

It's 'Sidewalk Sales' time in Romulus

A professional magician, talented clowns, an auction and a husband-calling contest will highlight a host of activities at this weekend's "Romulus Downtown Sidewalk Days."

The annual event, which grows bigger and better every year, will run all day Friday and Saturday in the heart of Romulus on Goddard Road between Wayne Road and Five Points.

"We really believe that we have a tremendous schedule of activities this year that will please all ages and every member of the family," said Joyce Palmer, secretary of Romulus Central Business District Association which sponsors the gala event.

The activities will run from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, followed by a huge street dance from 8 p.m. until midnight. Live music will be provided by Bobby Messer and The Michigan Countrymen.

Among the activities will be professional clowns, dunk tanks, a husband-calling contest, a professional magic show at 11 a.m. Friday and Saturday by Avery Gordon, plus "Spike" the Clown, a professional entertainer who will bring along several other clowns to make people laugh.

"The husband-calling contest and an auction have been added this year and should provide a lot of laughs, interest and excitement," Mrs. Palmer said.

She said the clowns will help in the husband-calling contest and described it as "a barrel of laughs." At 10 a.m. Saturday the Romulus Chamber of Commerce will hold an auction on items which include Blue canning jars, luggage, baskets, Japanese items, furniture and glassware. More items are expected to be donated to be auctioned off.

All day Friday and Saturday there will be sidewalk sales featuring tremendous bargains by various stores. A large display by various artists and talented people will have hand-crafted items for sale. The Kwik Helpers CB Club will provide hot dogs for only 50 cents and merchants will offer low, low prices on their goods.

Romulus Rotary Club will hold its annual Barbecue Chicken Dinner from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday at Kennedy Park on Goddard Road at Five Points. Price of $3.50 per person includes one-half a chicken, beans, cole slaw, potato chips and soft drink.

Romulus Central Business District Association will hold its festivities in the downtown area on Goddard Road between Shook and Sterling. That's where Goddard Road will be blocked off for the big Saturday street dance beginning at 8 p.m. Kwik Helpers will be selling all kinds of refreshments the two days, plus will be selling beer on Saturday and Saturday night. All proceeds raised by Kwik Helpers CB Club will go to Penrickton Center for the Blind.

A 50/50 drawing will take place during the dance Saturday night. Tickets may be purchased from merchants before and during the two-day celebration.

"We don't want anyone to miss out on all the fun," Mrs. Palmer said. "Make plans to join in the activities and the fun events this weekend. There's something for everyone and we want this to be the greatest Romulus Downtown Sidewalk Days event ever."

'To Serve and Protect'

More than 150 slogans were entered in the recent contest to select a motto for the newly-created Romulus Police Department. The winner, "To Serve and Protect," was chosen by the police officers themselves and was submitted by Richard H. Blood, a Romulus resident who is a 7-year veteran policeman with Huron Township Police Dept. Blood (left) receives a $50 Savings Bond from Mayor William M. Oakley (right) while Lt. Kenneth Sullivan and Police Chief Donald Flood offer their congratulations. ANP photo by Lohar E. Konietzko.

For newly-created department

City chooses police slogan

Romulus Police Department has a new slogan that will be the theme of the newly-created law enforcement agency.

"To Serve and Protect" was the winning slogan chosen from more than 150 entries submitted by 110 participants. The motto will be painted on each of the city's new police cars.

And the winner of the contest to select a slogan for the new Romulus Police Department is a policeman himself. Richard H. Blood, who resides on River-oak Drive in Romulus, has been a police officer in Huron Township for seven years.

The 33-year-old Blood said he wasn't even going to enter the contest at first. "But I was sitting home thinking about it and decided to enter the slogan — 'To serve and protect.'"

"It's really not an original slogan — I believe Los Angeles County and another police department are using the motto. 'However, I thought it was appropriate for Romulus. Basically that is what our job consists of — serving the community and protecting the residents.'"

The Romulus Police officers themselves voted on which motto they wanted to be their official slogan. The one receiving the most votes was the slogan submitted by Blood, who is originally from Garden City and has lived in Romulus the past two years with his wife, Terry, and sons, Aaron, 11, and Jeremy, six.

Blood said, "I was really surprised when they informed me my motto was chosen." The patrolman is certified by the state of Michigan as a firearms instructor and is one of the crime prevention officers in Huron Township.

Blood said the police reserves and some full-time police officers of Huron Township are taking part in the Village of Waltz Homecoming tomorrow through Sunday.

"We've set up a mini police station and will show films and give handouts pertaining to crime prevention during the 4-day homecoming," he said.

There were many slogans turned in during the month-long contest to select one for the Romulus Police Department. Some of the other slogan entries included:

"Protect Our City With Pride"; "We Have Helping Hands"; "Safety, First, Safety Last"; "Trust Us, We Care"; "Officers in Blue Watching Out for You"; "Hired to Serve"; "Police Are on the Run for You"; "Police Hide Behind Trees With Their Horses"; "Romulus Needs Police" and "I Help Fight Crime."

Those were just a few of the 150 slogans entered in the contest. Mayor William M. Oakley and Police Chief Donald Flood thanked everyone for participating in the slogan contest.

The winner received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond.

On a related note, Police Chief Flood reminded Romulus residents that the police emergency number is 942-0330. For routine or non-emergency police assistance, residents may call 941-8400.

Woods elected president of school board

Michael D. Woods was elected President of the Romulus Board of Education at the group's organizational meeting prior to the regular board session Monday night.

Woods served as vice-president last year. Elected Vice President was Theresa M. Kraft, while Shirley A. Lombardi was re-elected to the post of secretary and Richard Campbell was named treasurer.

That means three of the four school board officers will be serving in new positions this school year. Other board trustees include JoAnn Marvicsin, who served as treasurer last year, and Dan Bales and Sandra Langley, newcomers who were elected in the June School election.

In other action taken at the organizational meeting, the new board approved Manufacturers Bank, Security Bank and National Bank as depositories.

They voted to hold their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Mondays of each month. Also approved was continuing previous policies and the use of Roberts Rules of Order for their meetings. The President, Vice-President, Secretary, Treasurer and Supt. of Schools (William Bedell) were approved to sign documents, with any two of the five signatures making the document legal.

In the regular board meeting, the trustees approved the lease of vacant Gordonier School to Michigan Paraprofessional Training Institute.

"We will recover our entire operating cost for Gordonier School plus we will receive added revenue of $8,400 per year," Dr. Bedell told the board.

Several parents attended the meeting to urge the board to retain Lynn Cleary as music instructor in the school system. Two parents stood and extolled the virtues of Ms. Cleary, who has been notified she will be laid off because of the budget crunch.

The 25-year-old music teacher, who taught at South Junior High, had 80 of her 125 students take part in the city's Fourth of July Parade and won first place honors for a musical group.

Analysis

Will high school sports become extinct?

"Pay for play."

That's one way of describing the programs to save varsity athletics in Van Buren and Huron Townships.

Parents concerned over the prospect of losing competitive sports during the upcoming school year are banding together in Van Buren and Huron, attempting to raise the monies to field teams starting in the fall.

Each group will attempt to raise in excess of $100,000 through assessments and various fundraisers.

Parents will be charged $100 and more for each sport their youngster participates in. This fee will be decreased for the second and third person competing from the same family.

We applaud the dedication of the Van Buren and Huron parents who are willing to undertake such a massive fundraising venture. Obviously, they are well aware of the importance of varsity athletics to the total education process.

However, charging parents to let their sons or daughters compete in an extracurricular activity is not a reasonable solution to the problem. At a time when the public is clamoring for needed tax cuts, an extra $100 or $200 assessment could pose a real financial strain on many families.

Those who can afford the fee, will pay it. But those who can't, will they be pressured into spending money they truthfully don't have? Or will sports eventually become an activity for the elite?

The potential problems created by any so-called "Pay for play" endeavors strike at the core of our educational system. Youngsters from every school district are entitled to a total education, including sports, band and other extracurricular programs. It's all a part of school life. A part that one can't really put a price tag on.

Once we begin "charging" for sports participation, a dangerous precedent will be established. Extracurricular events must be left open for those who want to participate. Not only those who can afford to.

Landfill owners seek approval for expansion

Hazardous waste disposal is involved in operation

Many people are not aware of it, but Canton has a large landfill site on Hannan Road just south of Michigan Avenue.

And Woodland Meadows Landfill is asking permission to construct a landfill on a 105-acre parcel of land south of its present location.

Faced with $20 million deficit

County to trim or transfer 700 employees by July 27

Faced with a $20 million deficit and impending cash shortage, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has authorized the layoff or transfer of nearly 700 employees, a figure adjustable up or down effective July 27 for four months.

The Board approved the personnel changes on July 9, enabling time for the affected employees to personally receive notice by July 13, two weeks prior to removal from the payroll.

Already prepared for distribution of layoff notices according to previous orders from the Board, the County Civil Service last week gave the notices to department heads for hand-out to workers at their job site.

Except for specialist and high-priority classifications, those affected are employees with the least seniority, dating from Jan. 4, 1971.

It is expected that some of the approximate 700 notices will be later cancelled, and perhaps still others issued to ultimately achieve roughly a 20 percent reduction in all departments where possible without crippling the operation.

Employees of the Circuit, Recorder's and Common Pleas Courts are excluded since they are scheduled for transfer to the State in September.

All the layoffs could be prevented, however, if labor bargaining groups agree by July 27 on some alternate plan or saving or maintaining about $5 million cash through the end of the fiscal year on Nov. 30.

Chairman Samuel A. Turner stressed that the Board is willing to consider any other meritable plan, but emphasized that the layoff order now is necessary to comply with spending restrictions imposed by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

Proposals already offered by the board but rejected by the major bargaining groups include deferment of the half-quarter payment of COLA, a four-day work-week, a limit on COLA, and a series of non-paid specified days off.

The unions have said they would agree to voluntary days off at their will, but the Board of Commissioners and the County Labor Relations Board consider the idea too difficult to administer, with no guarantee of savings.

Commissioner Mary E. Dumas expressed hope that the bargaining groups would reconsider and "take advantage" of the alternate options still available.

Fiscal Advisor Edward Bobowski urged the bargaining groups to agree to deferment of COLA, the same plan offered by the County Board of Auditors in May when they first announced the deficit threat. Since then, that plan and the other alternatives were turned down in talks between the bargaining groups and the Labor Board.

For most county employees, the COLA payments amounts to about $1,000, proposed to be paid at some unspecified time in the next fiscal year. Throughout the ensuing year, as proposed, employees would receive five COLA payments instead of the usual four.

Bobowski said he favors deferment of COLA rather than the layoffs because "with that many fewer employees, the county can only limp along until the end of the year and service to the public will suffer greatly."

"In no way," said Bobowski, "could the county endure for a full year with almost 700 employees less."

The most visible departments hit hardest by the layoff proposal are the County General Hospital, losing 247; the Health Department, 45; Sheriff's Department, 40; Board of Auditors, 41; Prosecuting Attorney, 33; County Clerk, 24; Treasurer, 18; and Register of Deeds, 16.

Commissioner Thomas Presnell, from Westland, was the only commissioner voting against the layoffs, saying he was unconvinced it would save the money expected.

The county hopes to erase about $9 million of the deficit this year, and eliminate the rest in the next fiscal year beginning Dec. 1.

There will be a public hearing at 7 p.m. Monday, July 27 at Canton Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, for citizens to voice their opinions on the proposed doubling of the landfill site.

"The Planning Department of Canton has received a development proposal from Michigan Waste Systems, Inc.," James Kosteva, community planner, reported Tuesday night.

"The developer proposes to construct a landfill on a 105 acre parcel of land. The property is located in the southeast corner of Canton Township and is bounded by Hannan, Lotz and Van Born Road and the Conrail Railroad right-of-way," he said.

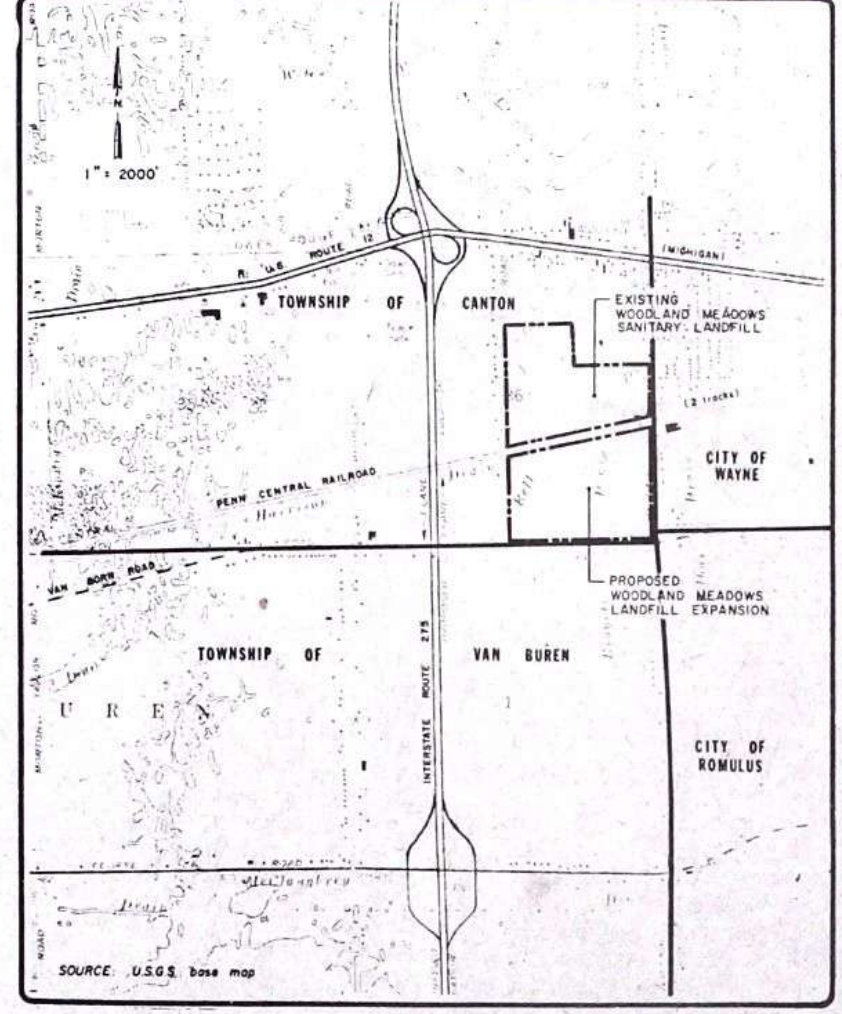

Kosteva said Michigan Waste Systems has submitted license applications to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) pursuant to the State of Michigan procedures for landfill licensing. The public hearing on July 27 will be conducted by the DNR and the Wayne County Health Department and combined with a regular meeting of the Canton Planning Commission.

"Licensing procedures for the type of landfill proposed are governed by Public Act 641 of 1978, the Solid Waste Management Act," Kosteva said. "The developers have also indicated that they intend to seek approval to use the facility for hazardous waste disposal. The Hazardous Waste Management Act, Public Act 64 of 1979, will regulate that aspect of the proposed landfill," he said.

"All persons with an interest in the proposed landfill are invited to attend the public hearing," Kosteva said.

The name of the proposed 105-acre landfill is Woodland Meadows South Landfill.

Area employment survey scheduled

Local representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment in this area during the work week of July 20-24, Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Detroit, announced today.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of approximately 71,000 households throughout the United States.

Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in May the survey indicated that of the 7.4 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 99.2 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.6 percent, up from the 7.3 percent registered during the prior 3 months.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

'Great supporting cast'

Romulus' 4th was the best ever

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

"Fantastic!" That's the way Dennis Davidson, chairman of the Fourth of July Parade, described Romulus' 7th annual holiday march through town.

"We had excellent support from all segments of the community and want to thank everyone who helped in any way. I want to especially thank the Fourth of July committee, made up of 15 city employees, who volunteered their time and effort to plan and supervise the parade."

Some 71 units, the most ever in the 7-year history of the Independence Day March, took part in the caravan that assembled at city hall and paraded west on Goddard Road through the downtown business district to Five Points.

Davidson said he especially wanted to thank Rita McLenon for her hard work and tireless efforts that made the parade the most successful ever.

"Mrs. McLenon did a super job. Not only planning the event but putting the parade units together and overseeing the numerous meetings and other areas leading up to the event," Davidson said.

Romulus recreation director, said.

Marching to stirring band music and using a western theme, the parade caravan began shortly after noon and was led by a sparkling new Romulus Police car. Eleven vehicles from the Romulus Fire Department rolled along behind the police car and were in turn followed by a colorful variety of antique cars, floats, bands, walkers, marching units, clowns and even a horse and buggy.

An exciting and surprise last-minute entry was a jet plane on a flat bed trailer from Selfridge Air National Guard Base. It had taken part in a Fourth of July parade earlier in the day in Wyandotte and came unannounced to participate in Romulus' annual march.

"There was an excellent turnout of spectators along the parade route and some estimated it was the largest number of viewers to watch a Romulus Fourth of July parade," Davidson said.

Romulus Hardware won the first place trophy for the best float as judged by a 4-member panel of judges on a reviewing stand set up at Five Points. Included among the judges were Joe Crova, Jason Lovette, Marilyn Moore and Mrs. Z. Jones.

Kwik Helpers CB Club won runnerup honors and Romulus Rotary Chicken Barbecue float was rated third, for which they received certificates and ribbons. The first place trophy for the best float was donated by Westland Sport Shop, which Davidson said has been extremely generous and helpful in participating in Romulus civic and recreation activities.

Named by the judges as the "Best Musical Group" was Cleary's Volunteers, a band made up of students from South Junior High and was their last performance under the direction of Lynn Cleary. South Junior High was closed at the end of the past school year and the students got together for one last musical get-together. Also performing was Romulus Community School Honors Band under the direction of Richard Kruse, who is well-known for honors bands have won in musical competition.

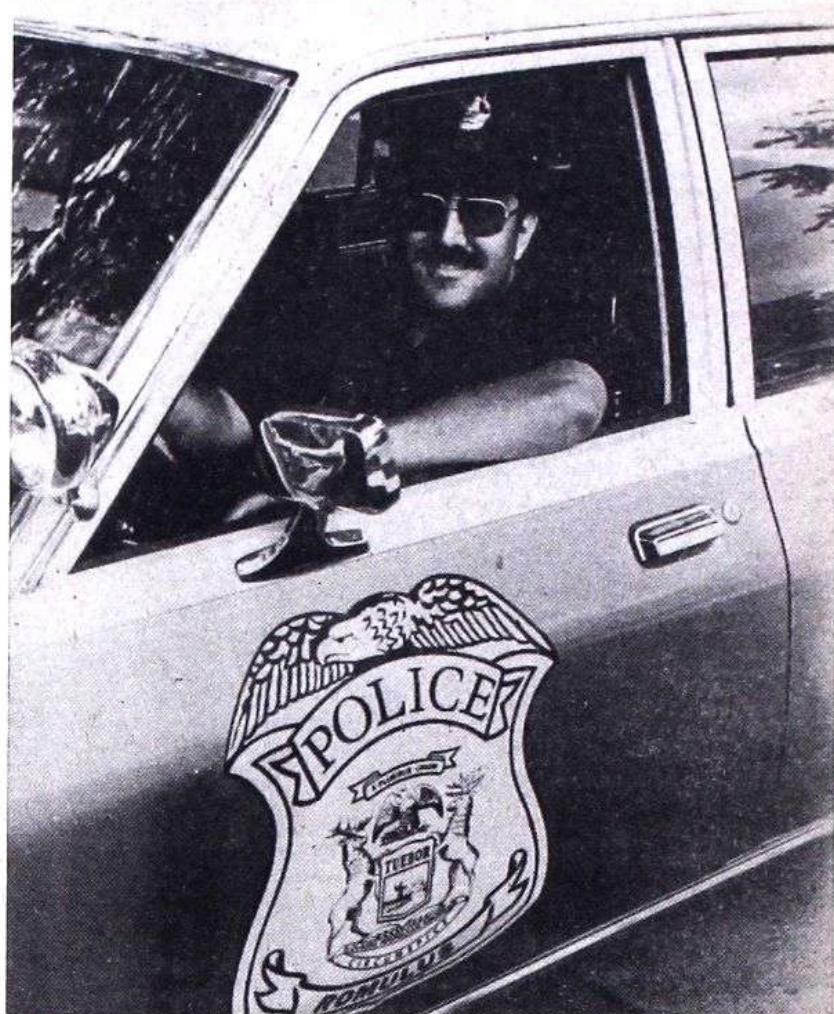

"Best Walking Group" was the Downriver Marine Corps. Young Marines, a group of youths teen age and younger. Their precision drill routine in front of the reviewing stand won the judges' plaudits as the best among walking groups.

"Best Car" was a 1966 Chevy Corvette won by Gary Hubbard. "We had an outstanding array of antique Model A and Model T cars, as well as early models ranging from the 1920's through the 1960's," Davidson pointed out. "And here were about 15 customized cars that drew the admiration of the crowd."

Davidson said he also liked the Romulus Recreation Karate Class led by Master Willie Adams.

Following the parade, families gathered in Elmer Johnson Park for Picnics. They were entertained in the afternoon by a water ball fight between the four fire stations of the Romulus Fire Department.

The action-packed holiday was culminated with a fireworks display in the evening at Johnson Park.

Back in driver's seat

David L. Malhalab, 31 and single, is one of the new professional police officers on the Romulus Police Force. He was laid off from the Detroit Police Department after three years and most recently worked as a Metropark Ranger. Malhalab described his new job of protecting Romulus as a "most happy one." "It is very gratifying to be working for the residents of Romulus and with a very dedicated and experienced group of fellow officers," he said. (MNS photo).

Benefit softball game raises $800 for muscular dystrophy

The famous and the unknowns battled on the softball field in the 3rd annual celebrity day in Romulus and raised more than $800 for charity.

The highlight of the day was a doubleheader between the Detroit Sports Broadcasters Association and present and former members of the Detroit Red Wings professional hockey team.

Reed Larson, all-star defenseman and team captain, was an unexpected member of the hockey softball team as his schedule gave him an opportunity to play.

"Reed was in Detroit to publicize some Red Wing promotions and it was really great to have him join us at the last minute," said Dennis Davidson of the Romulus Recreation Department, which co-sponsored the charity event with the Romulus Jaycees.

Half the proceeds went to fight Muscular Dystrophy, while other charities and new lights for Elmer Johnson Park softball diamond were slated to receive proportionate amounts.

Davidson said the Red Wing hockey players were very talented on the softball field. They not only took care of the broadcasters but went on to win a softball tournament at Niagara Falls, N.Y. comprised of teams made up of professional hockey players from the National Hockey League.

Seven games in all were played at Elmer Johnson Park for charity and one highlight was the Romulus Women's victory over a visiting Wayne team.

That win was a prelude to an all-star doubleheader planned for Sunday, Aug. 2 at Elmer Johnson Park between Class A and B all stars of Romulus and Wayne.

Romulus and Wayne's Class B All Stars will tangle in the 7 p.m. opener while the best in Romulus Class A women's softball will complete against the best Wayne Class A women players in the nightcap at 8 p.m.

Computers 'talk' education with kids in special program

By SUE McDONALD
ANP News Editor

They ranged in age from 5½ to 14 years and while they aren't computer geniuses, this group of gifted and talented youngsters from throughout Wayne County came away from a special two-week summer camp enthralled with the "age of micro-electronics."

The summer camp actually was a computer camp conducted by the Wayne County Intermediate School District for gifted and talented youngsters from Wayne-Westland, Livonia, Grosse Ile, Plymouth-Canton, Romulus, Detroit and other school districts.

In all 35 youngsters participated in the unique learning experience, a first for the intermediate school district, according to Karen Roth, a general education consultant. WCISD normally works in-service with teacher, but the computer camp was "delivery of a direct service to the children."

The children ranged in computer expertise from none whatsoever to a small amount to well acquainted, and through the camp they had the opportunity to learn even more about micro-computers.

Working on Apple II micro-computers, the youngsters were introduced to the computers and shown what can be done with the electronic wizards. The instructors — Larry Smith, Larry Malloy, Ed Herstein and Jim Rarus — are members of WCISD's data processing department and they provided the youngsters with some instruction on computer operations. From there the youngsters went to work on the computer terminals, working on their own programs.

According to Ms. Roth, the programming followed along with the student's computer skills. For the newcomers, the programming produce elementary pictures. Intermediate students learned more about graphics during the two-week session, while the advanced students refined their skills.

Ms. Roth hopes to use the camp as an example to teachers "as to how enthusiastic and motivating to students work with computers can be."

"We're attempting to get to the teachers through the students," she explained.

The computer camp was a pilot project, where the WCISD was "going to do and see what happened," Ms. Roth added. The enthusiasm was so great, that the district now will "assess the energy and commitment of time of the program to see if it will offer another one."

An open-ended camp, complete with specially designed T-shirts, the students learned basic computer knowledge, how to program the computers and how to integrate computers into everyday living.

While working with the four instructors they also used two textbooks that backed up what was taught during the three-hour a day session. Ms. Roth added that one textbook reinforced the teacher and included some sample programming, while the second textbook brought literature into the realm of computers.

"The stories the students read served as a sort of a light bulb — a 'maybe I can do that sort of thing,'" she said.

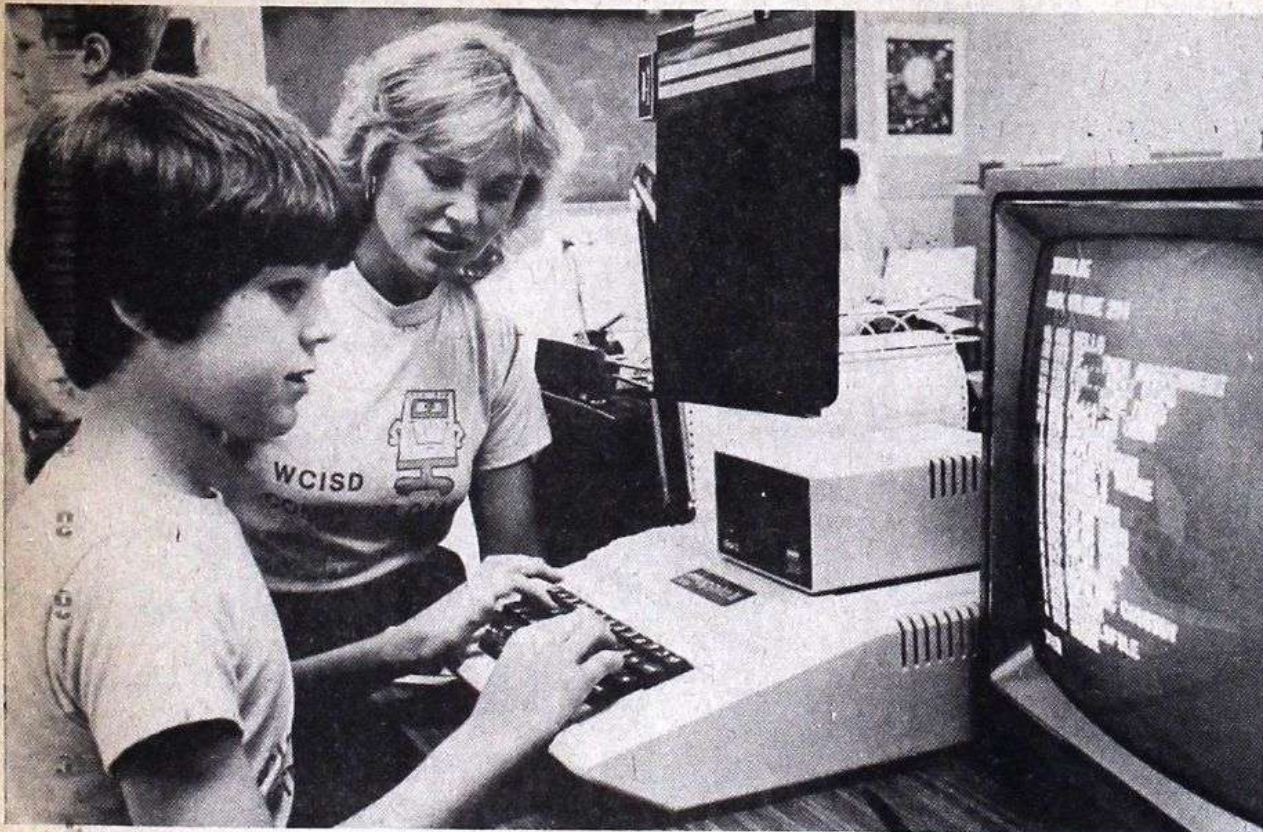

And the light bulbs did go off in the minds of the young "campers."

Ten-year-old John Keough of Canton Township knew nothing about computers and wasn't really certain what the camp would be like. His initial misgivings have given way to an enthusiasm about computers.

John admits that in the two weeks he did a lot more hands-on work than he expected and was surprised to see how many computers were scattered about the classroom. (There were 19 in all.)

While his programming was not as sophisticated as some of his fellow students, he's already taken his computer enthusiasm home and asked for a computer to continue his learning. According to John, his parents said "maybe we can get one."

Patrick Watts of Inkster had some experience with computers when he went to camp, and during two weeks of programming he was able to create 15 new games to use at home on the family's computer.

Computer talk

You definitely know how to talk in a very special way when it comes to communicating with computers. That's what 11-year-old Scott Benaglio of Grosse Ile found out during a two-week computer camp offered by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Through the summer camp, Scott learned the appropriate language to get an Apple II micro-computer to play "Home on the Range," a tune he programmed and played back for WCISD general learning consultant Karen Roth. —ANP photo.

Kwik keeps the handicapped hopes high

Kwik Helpers CB Club — based in Romulus — has assisted a lot of people and organizations in the past two years. And it's still going strong in its community-minded efforts.

Latest in a long list of benefits for charity will be this Friday and Saturday (July 17 and 18) at Romulus Downtown Sidewalk Sales. The group has promised to give at least $1,000 to Penickton Center for the Blind in Taylor from their two-day sidewalk sale.

Kwik Helpers CB Club will be located on Goddard Road right across the street from Bilmar's Supermarket in downtown Romulus. They will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday and from 8 a.m. until midnight on Saturday.

"We'll be selling hot dogs, potato chips, pop, arts and crafts, belts, belt buckles, cowboy hats and Indian jewelry," said James Shelton, president of the civic-minded group of 82 members.

His wife, Shelia, who is club secretary and does everything else to make charity events a success, says they are proud to live in Romulus and want to make it a better community.

"We try to help underprivileged children and senior citizens," she said. "We work for our community. We work with the city officials as much as possible and the co-operation from them and business people has been fantastic."

Mrs. Shelton said the Kwik Helpers hope to raise more than $1,000 for Penickton Center for the Blind, but adds, "We have promised to donate that much money no matter how much we collect this Friday and Saturday. Penickton gets no state or federal money, only what individuals and organizations donate."

Kwik Helpers also has a license to sell beer from 8 a.m. to midnight Saturday. "We'll be doing a lot of our selling during the street dance Saturday night," Mrs. Shelton said, "and we urge people to come by both days in our efforts to help the blind."

She said that people who wanted to help Kwik Helpers CB Club help the blind could send donations to Post office Box 282, Romulus, Michigan, 48174, if they could not come by Friday or Saturday.

At news conference gathering

It was the beginning of the end for the Executive Council of the Small Business Conference members who met for the last time officially at a new conference held last Tuesday in Lansing and organized by the Governor's Office. Gov. William Milliken appointed the council to help organize and oversee this nation's first state conference on Small Business. Pictured during the news conference were Burt Jones (from left) of the Office of Economic Development, Frank McMurray of Canton, Ed Mahoney of Detroit, Richard Sanford of Kalamazoo, chairman of the MCSB, Judson T. Bradford of Holland, Governor Milliken, David J. Willett, publisher of Associated Newspapers of Wayne, Lydia Demski of St. Joseph, Eleanor Loshaw of Vanderbuilt and Wallace J. Bronner of Frankenmuth. The executive council was officially dissolved after the new conference.

Small Business Conference report submitted to Milliken

In good or bad economic climate, small businesses have to storm most of the adversity that is pumped out of legislative bodies in the form of taxes, regulations, and laws.

The big get bigger and the small just vanish when hard times hit is an axiom few would disagree with.

But, instead of counting their days of despair, Michigan's small businessmen and women recently had an opportunity to vent their frustrations and fears and propose specific solutions thanks to the nations first state "Conference on Small Business".

Last week, the Executive Council for the conference presented Gov. William Milliken with its recommendations for change.

The council, appointed by the governor nearly a year ago, was made up of two local businessmen including Frank McMurray of Canton, David J. Willett, Publisher of the Associated Newspapers, and also prominent area and out-state business people including William F. Pikard of Dearborn, Thomas J. Kuber of Menomine, Ed Mahoney of Detroit, Wallace J. Bronner of Frankenmuth, Blanche Bekkering of Flint, Eleanor Loshaw of Vanderbuilt, Lydia Demski of St. Joseph and Judson T. Bradford of Holland.

Richard Sanford, of Kalamazoo, was named chairman of the MCSB, while Burt Jones, who is with the commerce department, now at the Office of Economic Development, along with John Hall,

Commissioners try again to remove Sheriff Lucas

In the first step towards possibly removing him from office, Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas has been summoned before the County Board of Commissioners on July 21 to explain his failure to post a $500,000 bond ordered by the Board in March.

Lucas was served a subpoena by the County Corporation Counsel on July 10, attached to a letter from Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner calling the matter "the utmost gravity." The Sheriff is to appear at 2 p.m. in the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building.

The bond, to ensure "faithful performance of the duties of your office," was ordered after Lucas ignored a directive to dismantle the Road Patrol and Investigation Unit and continued working deputies costing about $100,000 of unauthorized expenditure each week since Feb. 1.

According to the letter, "We have diligently searched our files and records and find no evidence that the bond required has been posted, and we conclude that you have not given such bond, although reasonable and ample time has elapsed since you were required to post such bond."

Under provisions of state statute, the letter continues, "you are directed to appear to explain to the satisfaction of the Board why you have not posted the $500,000 bond required." The letter points out that the same statute (MCLA 46.11(n)) confers upon the Board the power to remove the Sheriff from office by a vote of two-thirds (18) and to declare the office vacant.

In the Board resolution ordering the bond, a section of the statute is cited which reads "It shall be unlawful for monies appropriated in accordance with this act to be expended in any manner except in strict accordance with the terms of such appropriation," and also that, "The Sheriff shall appoint such number of deputy sheriffs as may be fixed by the Board of Supervisors (Commissioners)."

Faced with a $20 million deficit and cash shortage that could still mean pay-less-paydays for some, the Board last week ordered layoff of nearly 700 employees while attempting to save about $5 million this fiscal year. Since February, the Sheriff alone accounts for more than $2.1 million unappropriated expenditure.

Insisting he has a statutory duty, Lucas has been maintaining the unauthorized road patrol services by extensive use of overtime and shifting of personnel into unbudgeted positions. Thus

Congressman Ford's picnic date set

Congressman William D. Ford's 17th annual Birthday Picnic, which has grown in recent years to become one of the largest summer outdoor gatherings in Western Wayne County, is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, August 1, in New Liberty Park in Huron Township. Picnic Chairman Harry Brunner announced today.

Brunner heads a committee of several hundred volunteers, who prepare months ahead for the annual affair, said the country style picnic in honor of Congressman Ford's August 6 birthday, will run from noon until 6 p.m.

An antique steam engine will be on hand to cook some 10,000 ears of corn. There will also be hot dogs, keilbasa, popcorn, beer and soft drinks to be served on an "all you can eat basis," Brunner said.

The admission charge this year will be $12.50 per car, with a maximum of seven persons per vehicle. An extra $2 per person will be charged for more than seven persons, not counting children under seven years of age. There is no other charge, except a $2.50 deposit on pitchers for the liquid refreshments. The pitchers, however, may be kept as souvenirs, or returned in exchange for the deposit. Senior Citizens will be charged $2 on an individual basis.

CMU awards Belleville students scholarships

Central Michigan University has awarded a score of scholarships for next fall to entering freshmen with outstanding high school academic records.

Among those who received academic scholarships from this area include: Natalie B. Gress, of 49891 W. Huron River Drive; Sue A. Meyer, 127 Madelon Street, and Steven J. Peets, 1160 W. Huron River Drive — all of Belleville.

A Romulus resident, Cynthia A. Briles, of 14440 Huron River Drive, also received a scholarship.

CMU automatically awards scholarships to valedictorians and salutatorians of Michigan high schools and to entering students with high school grade point averages of 3.50 (4.0 equals straight A) or better.

The valedictorian/salutatorian awards and the academic honors scholarships are granted by the CMU Board of Trustees to students admitted to the University.

In all, CMU expects to enroll some 3,200 freshmen next fall. The University closed regular freshman admissions last March, although qualified transfer students are still being admitted.

Trials of a sheriff

Commissioners try to remove Lucas again

far, court orders have forced the Board to pay the overtime incurred.

Lucas is also presently in court against the Board seeking restoration of the road patrol and even more positions than before the unit was ordered disbanded. In a meeting last month on the Sheriff's disobedience and spending pattern, Commissioner Richard E. Manning said, "He's another General MacArthur that has to be called home."

The Commissioners also reluctantly took the first step towards providing centrally-located space for the reorganization of Circuit, Recorder's and the 36th District courts by agreeing to negotiate with the City of Detroit for the leasing of the 90-year-old former County Building that dominates Cadillac Square and is now considered an Historical Site.

Even after a 20-minute explanation by State Supreme Court Justice James L. Ryan in charge of the reorganization of the state's judicial system, commissioners remained fearful that the majestic structure of hand-carved mahogany, inlaid tile and "heroic bronze groups of horses and chariots" might fall victim to the wrecking ball.

They also feared that some of the costs — estimated at $23 million — for rejuvenation of the building and relocation of its present tenants might wind up in the county's already over-taxed budget.

Narrowly overcoming a motion to deny negotiations, commissioners supported one by Edward K. Michalski to begin talks and an amendment by Norbert Wisniewski to limit any alterations that might destroy the building's historical value. Wisniewski has since followed up by requesting that the State Historical Commission keep a wary eye on developments.

In the meantime, commissioners are faced with moving 12 Circuit Court facilities, located in the old county building and the Lafayette Building, to the upper floors of the new City-County Building; creating six additional spaces in the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice for Recorder's Courtrooms and completing negotiations with Detroit to allow them to remodel the old county building to house 26 courtrooms for the 36th District Court along with offices for 11 magistrates, and administrative offices for the Traffic and Ordinance, Civil and Landlord-Tenant Divisions.

According to a report to Samuel A. Turner, Chairman of the Board of Commissioners, Recorder's Court will have 29 judges by September 1, 1981, the 36th District Court bench will have 11 by September 1st, 20 by January 1, 1982; 27 on January 1st, 1983 and 29 by January 1, 1985.

The present Common Pleas Court already has 13 judges with nine sitting at the City-County Building and four at the Lafayette Building — eleven will become District Court Judges September 1st. What will happen to the remaining two is still not clear.

The Supreme Court is expected to assign seven of the 29 Recorder's Court judges to the 36th District Court, three for Traffic and Ordinance and four for arraignment, examination and misdemeanor trials.

Turner assured hesitant commissioners at the special full board meeting late Thursday that any lease contract with the City of Detroit would be subject to their approval to assure them that the county will not be saddled with additional costs and that the structure itself will not be altered to reduce its historical value.

On Small Business

Report goes to Gov. Milliken

of the commerce department, helped to coordinate conference activities.

During the past 12 months a series of forums was held to receive input from community leaders and that data was incorporated in the report to Milliken. The forums culminated in the first of its kind state-wide Small Business Conference held in Lansing in May and hosted by Gov. Milliken.

According to members of the executive council, the purpose of the Michigan Conference on Small Business "was to improve conditions for small business people in Michigan by advising Gov. Milliken and the State Legislature on changes in state laws, policies, and regulations that will enhance Michigan's small business climate."

"The conference provided," the report stated, "owners and managers of Michigan small businesses with a vehicle to reorganize and present their concerns to state policymakers through a democratic process. Lawmakers received an agenda on priority actions designed to strengthen Michigan's small business economy, and small business people capitalized on a unique opportunity to build a consensus on issues affecting them."

When one considers that approximately 95 percent of all businesses in the United States are considered small businesses and that there are 10.4 million of them representing more than 100 million people, it is incredible that their voices have not been heard until now.

Although there were some 60 recommendations that came out of the conference, 15 were labeled as "priority" and they were in the field of workers' compensation, the abolishment of the single business tax and the establishment of a policy of incentives for capital formation for small and minority business, tax credits to individuals and companies who provide investment capital or award contracts to minority-owned firms.

Further, the small business community would like to see implemented tax relief to insure tax abatement for small and minority-owned businesses and reimbursement for businesses from the regulating agency's budget for legal fees and court costs incurred combating wrongly issued citations.

And one of the conclusions drawn at the state conference was that "the future of Michigan's economic development lies with the future of its small businesses and that the executive, legislative and judicial branches of government must set as a priority of public policy their intent on establishing an attractive business and job climate in Michigan."

Willett will go into detail about his experiences as a member of the governor's council and expound on other conference recommendations Thursday, July 16 when he speaks to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

The monthly meeting of the chamber will begin at noon and be held at the Wayne Community Center, Howe and Annapolis rds.

Hage is a winner

Romulus Ed Hage held off the challenge of Joy Fair of Pontiac to win the 30 lap Late Model feature at Flat Rock Speedway Saturday night.

Hage took the lead at the green flag, with Fair putting on pressure from lap 20 to the finish.

It was Hage's second victory of the season. Harold Cook of Sylvania, Ohio was third, Lance Olson of Grosse Pointe fourth, and Pat Haywood of Romulus took fifth. Butch Miller of Lawton, Michigan subbed for Dick Barker and set fast time, but experienced problems in the feature.

The Figure 8 division was filled with crunching, crashing races in the preliminary events, but the feature ran smoothly with Gary Earley of Rockwood coming through with the win.

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

WORLD'S MOST PREVALENT DISEASE

What is the world's most prevalent disease? If your answer is the common cold—you're wrong! Tooth decay is the most universal disease in the world. Only a minute fraction of the world's people are free of it. Only 2 percent of the American population has been spared. Earliest cavities show up right after primary teeth erupt. The average 15-year-old already has at least five cavities in permanent teeth. Girls seem to get more cavities than boys; but then, girls get their teeth sooner.

the bacteria and sugar meet, acid is formed. When the acid and tooth meet, the acid starts etching a hole in the tooth.

Today's diets, high in refined sugars and carbohydrates, are conducive to decay. But careful and PROMPT oral hygiene procedures after eating will reduce, if not eliminate, the decay-producing activity of modern diet.

A cavity is a hole in a tooth caused by decay which is produced by the combination of plaque and acid. It doesn't take a few days for trouble to develop. Tooth decay can start in less than 15 minutes after eating. All that is needed are three ingredients: a tooth, bacteria (in dental plaque) and sugar. When

There's a lot of fun left in summer

VOYAGEUR CANOE PROGRAM

Persons may board the Montreal Canoe at Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens in a regular scheduled run through the marsh and waterways every day at 2 p.m. (providing there is a minimum of 8 adult passengers and good weather). The canoe, hand-crafted and of simulated birch bark, can accommodate 20 persons plus a life-guard or other staff. The canoe departs from the dock between the marina harbors and the tour takes about 45-minutes. There is a $1 charge per person for the trips, plus the required vehicle entry permits.

Naturalist conducted tours are also available on Thursday and Saturday at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. and the Naturalists will discuss the wildlife of the marsh and adjoining area. Tours cost $1, plus the required vehicle entry permits.

For additional information contact Metro Beach Metropark - Phone 963-3022 (Detroit Line) or 463-4581 (Mt. Clemens).

OLYMPIC SIZE SWIM POOL

Now is a good time to enjoy the Olympic-size swimming pool at Willow Metropark, located near New Boston.

This beautiful pool has both swimming and diving areas, lifeguards on duty, a large bathhouse with heated showers and adjoining patio at the food bar with colorful umbrellas. Pool hours are 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and holidays and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. Charges are 75 cents per person, including use of the bathhouse and showers. There are coin-operated lockers for clothes-checking, (25 cents each).

Willow Metropark, covering 1,531 acres, also has a large tot lot, shuffleboard, tennis and basketball courts, several picnic-playfield areas and outdoor dance center. Park hours are 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., and longer on nights there is Dancing on Saturday. For information contact Willow Metropark - Phone 697-9181 (% Belleville).

NEWEST METROPARK

Lake Erie Metropark near Gibraltar and Rockwood is the newest Metropark to be developed by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

It covers 1,568 acres and presently has limited facilities for picnicking, with shelters and playground space plus sanitary facilities. However, there is no drinking water in the general park area. There is a wonderful view of Lake Erie and a special marina area. Park hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. Development of this new park is expected to take 10 to 15 years or longer. Vehicle entry permits are required.

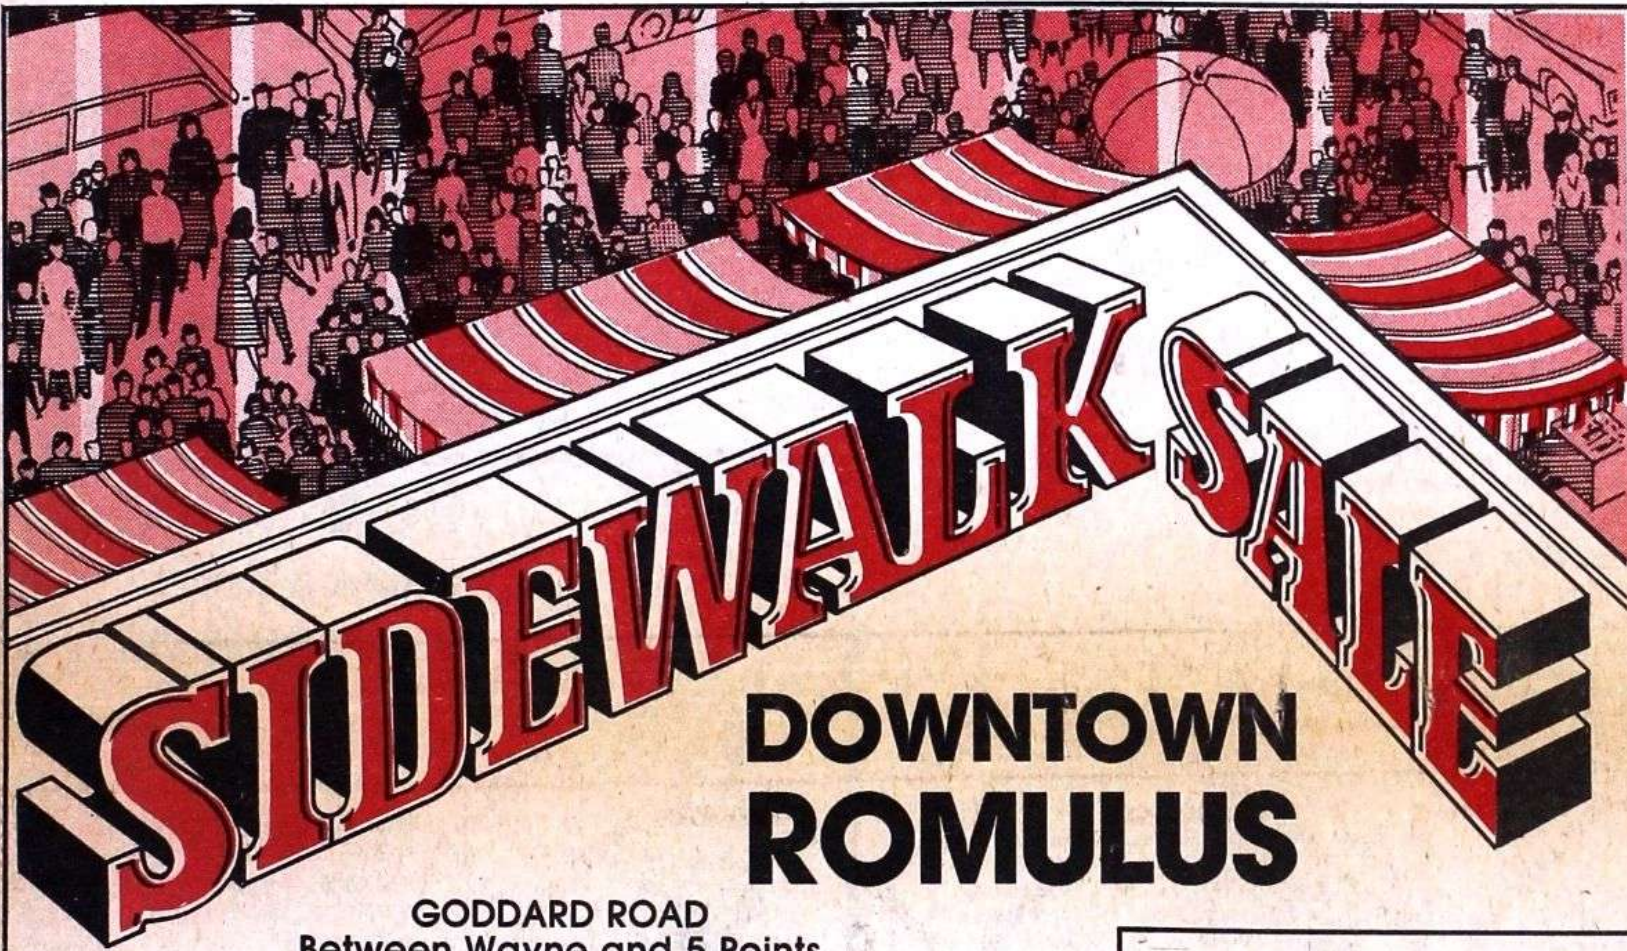

For information contact Lake Erie Metropark - Phone 697-9181 (% Belleville).

Huron's new school leaders

With a host of crucial problems confronting them, the Huron Community School District Monday night elected their new officers for the 1981-82 school year. The election, held during the annual organizational meeting, saw Edward Umin elected as the school board president while John Pershing was tagged as vice-president. Larry O'Kelley was picked as secretary and Gary Tobin was named the treasurer. The new slate of officers included George Angel (from left), John Watson, Gary Tobin, Umin, O'Kelley, and Pershing. Trustee Bill Manny was not present at the board's inaugural meeting.

Keeping varsity sports alive

When Huron School District voters turned down a millage request labeled by school officials as crucial, the school district had no alternative but to cutback on programs. And one of the first to go was varsity sports. However, a group of Huron residents, led by Wayne Younglove (at right) and Paul Teague (at left) appeared before the newly-installed board of education and informed trustees Monday night that their group is raising the necessary money to salvage at least some of the high school programs. Board members answered that the group should come back on Monday with "concrete plans and be prepared to answer questions on how they intend to raise the more than $75,000 to keep sports alive."

Gas usage down again

Michigan motorists are using less gasoline for the third straight year and consumption in the state is now at its lowest point since 1970, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Through April, state drivers used approximately 1.26 billion gallons of gasoline, or 9 percent below the same period in 1980," state Auto Club Touring Manager Joseph Ratke.

"This year's consumption also is 17 percent less than in the record gas use year of 1978, and only 1.5 percent more than was used during the same period in 1970," Ratke said.

This February was the first month since February 1970 that motorists used less than 300 million gallons of fuel, Auto Club pointed out.

"The drop in consumption is especially noteworthy since it is estimated that tourism in Michigan is up about 6 percent over last year," said Ratke, who added that Michigan tourism activity may eclipse record 1978 totals.

Last year, Michigan motorists cut gas consumption 10.7 percent in 1979. The reduction the second highest in nation. The District of Columbia posted a 15.7 percent drop in gasoline use.

Gas prices nearly 10 percent higher than last year more fuel-efficient cars on the road and the state's economic problems were cited by Auto Club as major reasons for the decline.

Michigan motorists should be lauded for their efforts to conserve fuel, Ratke said. "Vacations are that is up, driving home where most age is accumulating, is down."

"Through April, motorists in Michigan have used 1.4 percent fewer gallons than in the first four months of 1980.

Messerschmitt is featured in air show

Grosse Ile to host 'open house' on Sunday

A chance to glimpse into the excitement of flying will be provided by the second annual Air-A-Fair at Grosse Ile Municipal Airport on Sunday, July 19. The public is invited to attend a day's activities. Admission is free. It will be broadcast on 88 FM, so bring your radios.

A combination open house and free air show, the event is sponsored by the Grosse Ile Airport Association and the Experimental Aircraft Association Chapter 457. The day-long affair is designed to acquaint the community with what goes on at the airport and industrial park and give them a taste for why people fly.

A buffet brunch will be served Sunday from 9 a.m. until noon at the Old Officer's Club on the airport. Cost is $3.50 for adults, $3 for children.

Beginning at noon, the public will have the opportunity to browse through the airport grounds examining airplanes and looking at exhibits and displays.

The latest line of Piper and Cessna aircraft will be on display. One-quarter scale model airplanes will be shown. An instrument helicopter will be on display. Warbirds of the Experimental Aircraft

Association will be there: a B-25, PT-13, C-47, PT-26 and T-28.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary, Arnold Aviation, the 00ers, Civil Air Patrol, Indian City Radio Control Club, Grosse Ile Flight Service and other groups will display.

For those who get hungry, the Old Officer's Club will serve hamburgers and pop. The Airport Association will operate a beer concession.

About 3 p.m. an air show will commence highlighted by Art Patstone flying his Messerschmitt and Roger Fassnacht and John Gardner flying their Pitts bi-planes in low level aerobatics.

For more information, contact Association president Bud Payton at 671-8970.

Dancers needed for opera

Michigan Opera Theatre has issued a casting call for eight young dancers — four male and four female — who are needed for MOT's American premiere production of the Armenian opera "Anoush," opening in Detroit's Music Hall on October 29.

Dancers applying for the position should be especially trained and experienced in folk dancing, according to choreographer Hagop Chamourian, a native Armenian now residing in Windsor, Ontario. They should be available for rehearsals and performances between October 12 and November 7.

Chamourian will be auditioning dancers July 17 at the YWCA in downtown Detroit.

Applicants should have an audition piece prepared, and they must first make an appointment through the MOT production office by calling 963-3717 between noon and 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays.

Settle teacher contracts now

News of a possible teachers' strike in the Van Buren Community School District comes as no surprise to anyone familiar with management-labor negotiations.

Time after time we've seen both sides in any negotiating process jockey for position, trying to gain the upper hand for a final push in last-minute bargaining. Negotiators will state their case, attempting to portray the other side as an uncompromising group of obviously greedy managers or laborers, depending on the perspective.

Then, after this period of strategic sparring, the two adversaries (and that's how they unfortunately view each other) eventually "get serious." A strike deadline is generally set and the time spent in face-to-face bargaining subsequently increases — but only when it becomes expedient for each side to thrash out an agreement.

Call it pressure bargaining. Call it deadline negotiations. Call it around-the-clock maneuvering. We call it foolishness.

Foolish because pressure situations do not always produce contracts. And in school negotiations, the affects are felt by an innocent third party, namely school-age youngsters in need of an education.

That's what makes the Van Buren stalemate so frustrating — the students in the school district who literally have no say in the matters.

Teachers in the district, represented by the Van Buren Education Association, have been working without a contract since August of 1979. Apparently angered by a lack of progress in the negotiations, the teachers are prepared to take a strike vote which could close the schools in September.

The school board, meanwhile, has offered a 5 percent wage hike per year for the duration of the contract. Twice Van Buren voters have rejected proposals seeking additional millage for operational purposes.

Two meetings last month with a state mediator have failed to produce a settlement. The major issues? Salaries, fringe benefits, class size and grievance procedures. Predictable areas of disagreement.

However, the fact that the stalemate has not resulted in more bargaining immediately is also painfully predictable. Having arrived at a so called "dead end," the amount of time spent in preparing proposals and counter proposals across the bargaining table has virtually become non-existent.

Yet, this dispute can and will only be resolved through communication. So why not step up the communication process today? Why wait until September nears and with it the possibility of a walkout?

Last-minute bargaining may be a part of the negotiating "game." But the youngsters in the classroom are the stakes of this "game."

Serious bargaining in July and even August won't be easy. It'll take a firm commitment from both the teachers and the Van Buren Board of Education to bargain around the clock if necessary in the near future, even though the pressure isn't as great as it would likely be in September as the start of school draws near.

Rhetoric won't produce a contract — negotiating will. The stakes in Van Buren are too high for any negotiation "game playing."

Moment of Truth

Another Viewpoint

Troubled Van Buren

I read with interest last week's story about "Police say 4th was calm."

In this article, the Van Buren Township Chief of Police, George Montgomery, is quoted as saying: "We had a couple of fender-benders, but there was nothing else of real consequence. In fact, it was relatively quiet in these parts."

May I offer another point of view. But first I congratulate the Belleville Enterprise for calling the department to see how things went over the holiday weekend...that's good investigative reporting.

It is too bad that the chief apparently didn't take the time to read the reports and give you a more qualified answer.

Just for the record, the Van Buren Township Police Department handled 79 runs over the three day holiday period. What the chief so dismissed as "a couple of fender benders" breaks down as follows:

- One Rape, with Assault and Battery;
- Six burglar alarm runs;
- One missing person;
- Six property checks;
- Fourteen assists to citizens or other police departments;
- Two recovery of previously stolen property;
- Two malicious destruction of property reports;
- Four fights;
- Three other Assault and Battery Complaints (not including the rape);
- Three sick or injured persons (not including car accidents);
- Two parking complaints;
- One dog bite;
- Eleven disturbances;
- Two juvenile problem runs;
- One breaking and entering complaint;
- Five family trouble complaints;
- One additional family trouble complaint in which a gun was involved;
- One Violation of the Controlled Substances Act (dope);
- One DUIL (driving under the influence of liquor);
- One Miscellaneous Investigation;
- Two larceny reports;
- One stolen motor vehicle;
- Three car accidents with serious injuries;
- One car accident without injury;
- Four disorderly persons;
- One stolen check report; and
- One possible suicide.

This list makes one wonder if the chief knew what's happened in the township.

While we're on the subject, there are a lot of other things going on within the department and hall. For example, this Saturday, July 11, 1981, the department had two rookies working unsupervised in the late car (8PM-3AM), without even a County Sheriff Car in the area to back them up.

Your paper has carried several articles recently about a "reorganization" in the police department, and other departments within the Township Hall.

• A bookkeeper, who asked for a day off, but was told to take a sick day instead, was fired when she took the sick day.

• The Township also fired a five-year veteran of the force whose only crime was following the bad example set by the department brass.

• They fired an experienced, well-qualified secretary who worked for approximately $7000 per year, and replaced her with a $22,400 per year, ($16,000 base % 40 percent fringe benefits) inexperienced 20 year old.

The Chief stood up at a recent Van Buren Township Board meeting and attempted to justify the creation of a full time secretary position for his part time department by claiming that the case load has increased by 2000 cases since last year. He later corrected that statement to 200 case increase.

A quick check of the log book shows that the department entered the 1980 4th of July weekend with 2520 cases logged under their belt. They entered the same period this year with 2540 cases logged...an increase of only 20 cases, despite the absence of the Wayne County Sheriff this year.

The more I think about it, the more I think the police department does need reorganized. However, it appears to me that they ought to start at the top.

There are some very good cops on the Van Buren Township Police Department, but it seems to me that the cream that has risen to the top is more than a little bit spoiled.

It is scary to think that this same department is currently pushing a drive to form an untrained 'reserve' department to work with them, and that they are also spearheading a petition drive to make this police department full time.

With the leadership that department has now, the community might actually be better off with no local department at all.

Rumors of a "hit list" drawn up by the police Commissioner have everyone shook up, so, I will have to trust the Enterprise to withhold my name from publication. They are liable to 'reorganize' my department next. I do want to leave you with one parting thought though:

.....Sleep tight tonight, Van Buren Township, your local Police Department is watching over you.

Santa for Mayor?

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Gene Reaves had it made. The man who has become known as "Santa Claus" looks and plays the role and then decided that it was time for him to get mixed up into politics.

After all, who would ever think of not voting for Santa.

No way. They tried it in the "Miracle on 42nd Street," and you know what happened in that classic movie. Santa won, hands down.

So, Reaves figured he would have no problem convincing the people that Santa would do better than some of the people who ran City Hall. And he probably figured right. So Reaves and his little helpers went around and gathered enough signatures so that the Jolly Old Fellow could run for the Mayor of Westland.

"And I have enough signatures to file," said Reaves, that is, Santa, yesterday. "And I was going to file, but then I had second thoughts. A messenger from the North Pole probably warned him — beware of politics and politicians — they're deadly."

In Westland, if you haven't heard by now, there are several prominent persons who are eying the position that Mayor Tom Taylor apparently has just gotten sick of. He said he wouldn't run for office in November.

And what Taylor doesn't want or covet any more, State Rep. Tom Brown, Westland Parks and Recreation employee, now unemployed Chuck Pickering, and ex-city councilman now private citizen, Henry Ludquist, seek. They are announced candidates for the Mayor's Office.

But Reaves was not circulating petitions when we ran up to him with our list of Christmas goodies. In fact, he said: "I have decided not to file my petitions."

And he offered this surprise for his reason: "I am supporting the candidacy of Thomas H. Brown for Mayor. And I am encouraging all my friends and supporters to join me in helping him become elected."

With Santa on Brown's side, how can he lose?

Betcha Pickering and Lundquist will come up with some answers.

A few weeks ago I wrote here about Grandma Maud Canup who was robbed while she was sleeping by thieves who made off with approximately $400 in cash and her TV set.

Well, I'm happy to report that some of our readers have rallied to her side and have donated money so that she may purchase her tombstone.

Here is one such letter about the incident:

Dear Mr. Mooradian,

Enclosed you'll find a check for $5. Please forward it on to Grandma Canup who I personally know and admire. She is everything you say she is — kind and generous and it's ashamed that our society has people who would go around robbing the helpless.

Again, enjoy your column. Please keep up the good work.

She lost interest in her local bank

The following incident happened to me...and it could happen again and again unless of course people become more informed and aware of legislative laws and policies of institutions whom we entrust our estates...meaning your friendly, local banker.

On July 1, 1981 I made a visit to a certain bank to cash a personal check a friend had made out to my husband.

I had closed out my checking account there in 1978, but left my savings open in the event I wanted to make further transactions. I had a small balance at the time ($10.91), but did not make any deposits or withdrawals.

Little did I know there was a penalty brewing and a surprise in store for me as well.

The teller informed me after a routing check through the records, that I no longer had a savings account. I was, needless to say...somewhat surprised because I had not closed out the account myself!

The State of Michigan did not their authority and on the legality of "escheats".

"What do you mean by escheats?" I asked.

The teller informed me the State had the right to extract money from my account if I did not have a transaction within a seven year period. My account has been inactive for 2½ years.

Later, after calling the bank manager, I was told customers with small balances and inactivity over a two year period...would have their accounts turned over to the State Board of Escheats. This meant I would have to come into the bank, fill out a form and wait for the State of Michigan to return my money.

I was furious...but managed to maintain my composure. "Why wasn't I contacted first?" I asked.

I never did get a satisfactory answer or convincing excuse. I argued, politely, "that my account was closed without my knowledge or consent, and that there was a principle involved here besides the law!"

Common courtesy would tell me I was at least entitled to a phone call or letter from the bank...but obviously, the law does not require the bank to incorporate that into their policy.

I was simply reminded by the bank's receptionist that I had watched TV, listened to my radio, or read any newspaper often enough...I would have known such a law was in existence was to blame, not the bank!

I am contacting the main office of this certain bank to speak with the director of all the bank branches. I must admit, I received far more understanding and concern over this incident from the main branch and that I did from the local branch. The local branch manager agreed I should consult a lawyer, "then maybe we both could understand the law or escheats a little better!"

I have learned a hard and rude lesson...but I am glad I have the means and energy to pursue the matter so that this will never happen to anyone else again. If I have to write until I am blue in the face, I will...I believe this law on escheats needs an amendment to it making it mandatory that all banking institutions be required by law to make at least some effort to inform the customer that their account is up for escheats if they don't come in and make a last ditch deposit!

Here is what Daniel Webster himself, had to say about the word, "Escheats": "The reverting of property to the Lord of the manor or to the government when there are no legal heirs."

Can you imagine how many senior citizens, small children and uninformed 30 year olds there are out there who have no idea of what the word ESCHETS means, much less the authority it gives another to take what does not belong to them?

The prospect of legislation like this scares me...the fact that my $12.73 (that's after the accrued interest) could be turned over to the State while I'm still very much alive, and so are my heirs...tells me only one thing...the law must be changed to protect the living!

I am not out to get this certain bank...I simply want some guarantee that in the future they will use a little common courtesy and make an effort to inform people about their bank policy on escheats.

As a public service, I would appreciate if you could research the law on escheats and run an editorial of some kind to better inform the public.

The person I spoke to at the main office of this certain bank was very concerned over any bad publicity about their bank. However, the manager of the local branch didn't appear to be the least bit worried.

Response to pageant story

EDITOR — Linda Kiernan's article, which appeared in the Associated Newspapers on July 9, about the Miss Westland Pageant started out on the right track.

We fully agree there were things left to be desired as far as the decor, the absence of music, and the lack of silence as the contestants were announced. (Perhaps, Miss Kiernan, this is all the city's budget would allow.) However, this is where our agreement ends.

For the balance of the article the writer implied that the winners were pre-judged and that the contest was "RIGGED". She goes on further to say that quote: "one girl knew who was related to whom", end quote. We too felt these pageants might be "rigged" in some way, and we can appreciate your concern. However, unless you furnish proof, this is a terrible statement to have made on your part; since you are listening to hearsay.

Our faith in the pageant has been restored in the fact that our daughter was chosen. To start with, ALL contestants were winners! They were selected from a large field of entries. For anyone to put down the contestants and/or winners, the Pageant Committee, or the judges, is shameful! It is hard to believe that the writer is a resident of Westland.

In response to the accusation that contestants were judged on "who you know", we want to respond in this manner. Apparently there is a person who works at Westland City Hall that has the same surname as we do. I can assure anyone we (Mr. & Mrs. Daniel Fritz & Family) are not related in any way, nor do we know any of the judges that were present!

It is a shame when people have to respond to someone who is obviously biased in their judgment. Fortunately, the judges at the Pageant were able to see, and not blindfolded.

We regret the writer's PERSONAL contestant did not win. However, the writer is welcome to our home to meet our daughter, and we're sure you'll change your mind.

Joyner backs proposed charter

EDITOR — Despite the many obvious shortcomings in the proposed Wayne County Charter, I feel that the residents of the third largest county in America would best be served by its passage.

A "yes" vote this Fall would place the residents of Wayne County firmly behind a reform and reorganization that is necessary for our County.

I further urge all the voters of Wayne County to support an elected County Executive over that of the proposed appointed County Manager. It will be through the election of an Executive county wide that we see, for the first time, all elements of the divisive City/Out-county split have the opportunity to work together for the common good of all.

The Charter abolishes the Board of Auditors and reduces the number of County Commissioners from 27 to 15. I strongly support both moves. County government cannot work efficiently with the anachronistic Board of Auditors or an over-weight, incestuous Board of Commissioners.

With an elected County Executive and a smaller Board of Commissioners, we will be in a better position to define priorities, budget money, and operate an efficient and necessary level of government.

My regret with the Charter is that it does not abolish the Register of Deeds and the Drain Commissioner. It also does not go far enough in reforming the Wayne County Road Commission. As one Commissioner who has fought hard for County reform, I encourage every voter to help County government take the first step toward accountability. Vote "yes" on the County Charter.

I welcome your comments and encourage anyone desiring to pass along information to do so by writing to me at 726 City-County Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Westland festival was beautiful

EDITOR — The 1981 Westland Summer Festival has come to a close, but the memories will linger. As I sit here, looking over the past three days I feel an inner glow over how well things went for the children's events, and the people involved to make them a huge success.

Thank you to the children, who waited patiently for their event in the soaring temperatures and then forgot all about the heat when the race was on... All the winners with smiles on their faces, but as I look back every child was a winner.

To my co-chairman Lorraine Liddy and her husband, Rick, who worked with me in preparing and supporting the events; to my husband Vern and my children CiCi and Mark for their support and understanding.

I wish to extend a special "thank you" to the many volunteers who assisted in running each event, especially Debbie and Donna Mueller, Mary Gembela, Diane Rohraff, Joyce Mehl, Linda and Christy Miller, Carelene McCloud and the teens from Parents Without Partners, Dolores Newell, Sylvia Kozorosky, Andy Spisak for the fine job of emceeing, John Kendall, Cindy Ciura, and a special thank you to Carol from the 18th District Court work program, Sue McDonald and Tom Mooradian of the Associated Newspapers and to the many workers who worked on the events.

See you next year.

An act of timely kindness

EDITOR — In our present society, I did not think these things happened any more. Indeed, "Chivalry is not Dead".

I wish to publicly thank two patrons of the "Cue Corner" Club, a pool and billiards club located on Ecorse Road just west of Middlebelt.

As I was driving home from Shady Hollow Golf Club at 11 o'clock at night on Saturday, the 4th of July, I got a flat tire a short distance from Cue Corner.

I went to the door to ask someone to call a cab for me. A gentleman (with only one arm) offered to change the tire for me. A second and younger man came out to help him.

When I tried to pay them, they refused.

I thank God for sending me to the door of "Cue Corner" where I found help from these two Good Samaritans — who would not even give me their names.

The Hillenbrand Report

Juvenile suicides in adult jails

By BERNARD F. HILLENBRAND

Our nation mourns the tragic loss of 28 Atlanta youths whose lives were bound by poverty or broken homes and death.

Another group of youth share these traits. They too, deserve our remorse, for they are no less victims.

These are juveniles — black, white and red — who committed suicide in adult jails.

Each year over 479,000 juveniles are locked up in adult jails. According to a study by the Community Research Forum at the University of Illinois, only 10 percent are held for serious crime. Many others have committed property offenses. Twenty percent are charged with drinking, sexual promiscuity or running away and 4 percent are jailed without having committed any offense. "Increasing suicide rates and abysmal jail conditions have replaced the popular notions that a night in jail can't hurt anyone or that it 'would teach him a lesson,'" said David D. West of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Family conflict and emotional stress are among the reasons teens in the general population have a high suicide rate — in 1978 it was 2.7 per 100,000 youth. A jail experience alone can bring on crisis. In fact, juveniles held in adult jails commit suicide at approximately eight times the rate of children held in juvenile detention centers and four and one half times the rate of children in the general population.

Sometimes juveniles are placed side by side or in the same cells with adult criminals, although this practice is illegal in most states. Michael G. Flaherty, a sociologist who conducted the Illinois study, said juveniles placed in adult cells are usually separated to protect them from abuse. "This leaves them with a sense of total isolation and despair, sometimes leading to self-destruction," he said.

Half the children whose deaths he investigated were not guilty of felonies. "This implies," he observed, "that many of these juveniles pose little threat to their communities. Such children end up in jail because communities haven't developed alternatives for kids having problems."

Taxpayers wary of additional burdens should note that the American Justice Institute estimates that the average "jail day" costs $24, while a day in a juvenile detention center costs $61. In contrast, counseling or formal supervision for children who can continue to live at home costs $14 to $17 a day. Counties have successfully offered these services through family crisis intervention programs, evening report centers, use of volunteer proctors and day treatment facilities.

The state of Maryland reports that placing a youth in prison costs $12,000 to $14,000 a year. Placement in a group home costs $8,200 per child, and foster care is $2,400.

Obviously, jailing juveniles is not an answer to delinquency. The ultimate cost is wasted lives.

1. Dareerell Wayne Walker, 17, suicide by hanging, Marion County (Indianapolis), Ind. jail, Dec. 6, 1980. Charged with burglarizing a drug store. Authorities argued among themselves for months trying to decide whether he should be in a jail or mental institution.

Reflections

Today I mourn a friend

Today I mourned a friend. Even though she died a little over a year ago, today was my first day of mourning.

Jean had been an important part of those years so long ago, when I had come to Michigan as a rather new wife, and a very new mother. There were eight of us, eight young women, newly married, newly mothered, with fresh memories of the violence of World War II and an eagerness to put it behind us, and step onward into a fresh new world waiting just for us.

By day we washed our new dishes in our new kitchens, tended to our new babies in their new nurseries, and wrapped ourselves in the arms of our new husbands when night filled the outside world with darkness.

We were friends, hardly knowing each other, but eager to find out that which motivated the other, and learning as the years went by, to accept and love the differences in each of us.

And then one day, Jean's husband went to New York where his star was beckoning with brilliant light, and with tears and absolute assurances that we would never lose touch, Jean left our group and joined her husband.

I never saw her again. A little over a year ago we got the word that Jean had cancer, but 'she was going to be all right.' But, somehow, her destiny was folding in on itself, and a few months later she died.

It didn't seem real to me.

There was no daily void, for that had been opened and closed a long time ago, and yet, I found myself dreaming of her, the way she was when I first knew her, a tiny, blond girl, who wore daintiness as if she had created it.

Today I heard that her husband had remarried and while I was happy he was no longer lonely. There was something in me that compelled me to drive down the street, past the pretty home where the shrubbery and the trees which had been a part of Joan's dream, rose sturdily towards the heavens, saying something about eternity.

But I couldn't quite read the message. My heart was hurting, for I was remembering Jean, her tiny hands belying their strength, lovingly putting her special touches on this home and grounds.

It was funny things I was remembering, like how it was through her that I learned to wash and clean raw vegetables and wrap them tightly in cellophane to preserve their freshness. I remembered the way she called jelly beans 'birdie-eggs' and her fondness for them, long before it was politically savvy to have a jar of them on one's coffee table.

I remembered her strength when her baby pulled the coffee pot down from the table where it was perking scalding coffee, and how she tended that baby back to bouncing health.

I remembered her naive approach to life coupled with her innate wisdom, her vulnerability and her strength, her funny little outcroppings of humor when one least expected it.

And as I looked at the pretty house, that will, forever, be Jean's in memory, my heart twisted and I longed for the years to turn back on themselves and let us, once more, be those young, eager women reaching out to the world and loving every moment of it. I mourned the years in which we had lost touch, and

JOYCE HAGELTHORN

I cried within myself that I had done nothing in making sure our hands touched one another's occasionally during those long-gone years.

And yet, my heart told me, that even though we had lost physical touch those emotional strands tying us together were tough and resilient, and because they were so tough and resilient, perhaps they were, even now, reaching into the cosmos and binding us together in everlasting friendship.

But for awhile I will continue to mourn for what once was, that was precious and in that mourning, hope that someday I will see her again, those small hands, so full of strength, waving "hello".

Mona Grigg

Next year don't expect Grace

My friend Grace is at it again. She says she is organizing a 1982 Festival boycott and would I want to be co-chairman?

I said why would a sane person want to boycott a Festival?

Especially as patriotic as one as comes on the Fourth of July?

And who did she think would come? Or not come?

Wasn't that, I said, a little like boycotting Christmas?

I mean, festivals are traditional in towns like ours. It's just the summer thing to do.

Well, you know feisty Grace can be. She said if we had had a festival like the one in "Picnic" (she mentioned the bandshell and the Ice Cream Social and the box lunches and even, for some reason, Bill Holden and Kim Novak), then she might reconsider.

She might even reconsider if we had one like the original ones in the olden days of our town.

But, she said, the festival this year was nothing but a big, tacky, sleazy, rip-off carnival. (Grace says words like "tacky" and "rip-off" while clenching her teeth. Grace likes to look tough while talking tough. Grace scares me sometimes.)

Well maybe, I said, they just had a bad year. There have been good years...

"A dollar for a crummy can of beer!" she shouted. One thing I'll say about Grace — she does like her beer. I like Cola's myself, and 50 cents for a big glass seemed like a bargain to me — but knowing Grace, she'd rather fight than switch.

"Remember our first festivals?" she went on. "When we could get everything for a dime? Beer and pop and hot dogs and ice cream?"

She said "ice cream" through clenched teeth, too. I thought "tacky" came through a lot better that way, but in the mood she was in, I wasn't about to make corrections — or remind her about inflation.

"And can you imagine? $4.50 for a lousy chicken dinner? I can do better than that at the Colonels!"

"But Grace," I said, "I think the proceeds go for charity — and besides, if you had waited until the fireworks started you could have had one for a dollar. They were practically giving them away."

"Charity, Hah!", she shouted. (She scared me again.) "Charity begins at home! You don't rip off the people who live in your home, even for charity — and especially not in a recession year."

"And that carnival! Did you believe 75 cents for a ride? Tacky, tacky, tacky. I heard some people say they barely got into the Dodge-Em cars before they had to get out. I can buy a half-gallon of gas for what they paid to step into and out of a Dodge-Em car."

"And the noise! Every ride blaring different Heavy Metal — what incredible cacophony (I had to look that one up — Grace does that to me every now and then). Whatever happened to carousels and waltzes?"

The very thought of carousels and waltzes must have got her to thinking, because suddenly her eyes misted over and her voice grew softer: "Remember when the parachutists would come floating down from a thousand feet in the air and land smack in the middle of the bullseye?"

"And remember those magnificent water fights the firement used to stage?"

"Oh, and remember when we could

LEG PAINS

No Longer A Problem With Chiropractic Care

From the cradle to the grave, the legs play an interesting and important part in the daily life of the individual. For the infant, the legs are something to wave in the air and admire. They are playthings, and they attract the eye of fond grandparents as they wave in the air above the tiny body. Later, the legs become a means of locomotion... stumbling and tottering steps become running and leaping as time passes. Legs are for walking, running, jumping, pedaling a bicycle, swimming and climbing in youth. They are mighty important assets to childhood. In later years, legs become tools, almost a necessity in the routine of living and making a living. They do a tremendous job of supporting the weight of the human body, of moving that human body from place to place. They are called upon to support the body, to bend, to stoop, to stretch and to perform many duties.

No child's game

United States lags far behind in international checkers

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

Carl Smith had the look of a national champion. Poised and relaxed. Across the table, Freddie Fleming of New Orleans couldn't hide his frustration over the impending defeat.

Then, with the timer at his side showing 2:25, Fleming raised his eyes dejectedly from the board and reached for Smith's hand. Another grueling match in this national tournament was history as a couple spectators clapped in recognition of Smith's triumph.

Such is the world of bigtime checkers. No prize money. No reserve clause. No groupies. Just a small band of dedicated individuals who play for keeps.

Thirteen of the country's best checkers' gamesmen visited Inkster last week for the American International Checkers Society's (AICS) 11th National Tournament. Included in the field for the Masters Division was Henry Johnson of Inkster, the AICS secretary-treasurer.

"The international game is played with 20 pieces on a 100-square board," Johnson explained during a break in the action. "It's a more technical, more spectacular form of checkers than the one most people are familiar with (12 pieces and 64 squares). There are only about four people in the Detroit area who regularly play the 100 squares."

A retired mailman, Johnson has twice travelled to Europe for the world checkers competition and has served as an AICS administrator for some 10 years. He was introduced to the 100-square game by Carl Smith, a five-time American champion who's visited Europe for international matches the last 10 consecutive years.

A lotta fun? Yes, but Johnson takes his checkers seriously.

"Most people think it's a child's game," he bemoaned. "By no stretch of the imagination is it a child's game. They have the wrong conception of checkers. It's beauty and it's art...absolutely mind boggling at times."

"We must pay our own travel expenses to tournaments but it's still an inexpensive hobby," Johnson noted. "Why you spend less money at checkers than you would on the golf course or at the bowling alley."

But isn't checkers a game confined to granddads and youngsters for an occasional diversion?

Johnson leaned back in his chair at the Inkster Recreation Complex and smiled. Patiently he explained the scope and complexities of 100-square checkers as a worldwide attraction.

The United States is one of 22 countries affiliated with the World Federation of Checkers in Paris, France, which divides competitors into four zones, he explained. Three persons from last week's tournament in Inkster, for instance, qualified for the zone matchups in Haiti later this month. Winners there advance to the world tournament, held every two years.

National play calls for two games per day for each participant while international competition is limited to a game a day. Some games continue for seven hours and longer, Johnson pointed out. All action is timed with each player allowed two hours for the first 50 moves and one hour for each additional 25 moves.

And how does the U.S.A. fare among the world's elite checkers powers?

"We're far behind," Johnson stated simply. "The Dutch had controlled the world title from 1972-1980 but the Soviets won it in 1980. No American has ever won the world championship."

"The Soviet government subsidizes the players in Russia," he added. "There are 2 million sanctioned players in the Soviet Union, 10,000 in Holland and 81 in the U.S. We must institute some training programs here for our youth. Overseas they start playing at 10 or 11 and are grand masters at 21."

"Most of the books written about 100-square checkers are in Dutch or Russian. The 100-square boards are not even manufactured in this country."

Any plans to qualify for the zone tournament were put to rest early last week for Johnson, who dropped his first five matches in the masters' competition. But the 38-year resident of Inkster remained in a jovial mood as he prepared to meet his stiffest test, a Soviet Union native, Vladimir Kaplan of New York.

"Whatever I put out there he's going to jump on," Johnson joked. "I just have to swap, swap, swap...trade pieces and keep him from getting anything started."

"And I'll need a lotta luck."

The finest checkers players from around the United States matched skills last week in Inkster at the American International Checker Society's 11th national tournament. Competitors record every move and have two hours in which to take their first 50 moves or face forfeit. Henry Johnson of Inkster, the AICS secretary-treasurer was one of 13 participants in the Masters Division. ANP Photo by Lothar Konietzko.

Fishing Lines

By BOB SAWITSKI

An exciting topwater lure

Without a doubt, catching bass on topwater lures is the most exciting type of bass fishing. But just exactly does the term "topwater" mean?

Virtually any kind of lure can be made to run on the surface of water merely by changing the speed of the retrieve. A heavy metal spoon can be skittered on top by cranking your reel at top speed. A deep-running crankbait can be jigged across the water with a series of short jerks and pauses. A plastic worm can be rigged weightless on a weedless hook and slithered through thick vegetation.

Under ideal conditions, these methods, as unorthodox as they may be, will catch fish.

However, there are lures that are much more effective when fished on the surface, lures specifically designed for this purpose.

Most topwater lures are the deadliest when fished under periods of low light, such as at night, early in the morning or in the evening — and on overcast days.

The popular Jitterbug, manufactured by Fred Arbogast, has been around for quite some time and is still hard to beat after dark.

There isn't a bass angler alive who, at one time or another, hasn't witnessed schools of big bass suddenly come alive on the surface. You can't really see what they're feeding on, but you wish you were more adept at flyfishing because the bass are ignoring all the standard plugs you're tossing at them.

Next time this happens to you, try this: Tie on a floating Rapala or Linebacker, cast it out as far as you can — and wait. Just let your bait lie still on the water and be alert for strikes.

If the temptation to do something is too strong, tighten up on the line, hold the rod tip high, and shake it lightly. Don't jerk it, and don't turn the reel handle. Just shake it two or three times, pause, and shake it again.

The lure will jiggle enticingly and, if you're not paying attention, a hungry bass will snatch the rod out of your hands.

A spinnerbait can be extremely effective at times when retrieved so that the blade causes the surface of the water to bulge. It also won't hurt if the spinner blade is allowed to break the surface once in awhile.

A buzz bait is similar in design to a spinnerbait with one exception — a huge, propeller-like, rotating blade. And where a spinnerbait is versatile enough to be fished at all depths, a buzz bait is strictly a topwater lure.

Buzz baits are the most exciting of all topwater lures. When retrieved across the surface, its churning, bubbling action simulates a critter that's trying to make it to the other side without becoming a meal.

Unlike most other surface lures, a buzz bait can cause action on top even when there's no evidence of activity. The lure seems to call bass and they will go far out of their way to smash the lure.

When a bass hits a buzz bait, there's no telling exactly how big it is until you get it close enough to see it. All bass, big and small, literally explode at a buzz bait sending spray several feet into the air.

Both largemouths and smallmouths are equally vulnerable to a buzz bait.

A stout rod, high-speed reel and heavy line are standard tools for buzz bait fishing. Use a reel with a 5-to-1 gear ratio to keep your cranking arm from falling off. And don't be afraid to use line as heavy as 20- and even 30-pound test. The line is out of the water when the lure is being retrieved so the fish won't be spooked even in clear water — by the heavy line.

Together with the stiff action rod, heavy line comes in handy for horsing bass out of thick weeds and into open water.

Don't hesitate to tie on a buzz bait during the heat of the day. To some fishermen, catching bass on top in bright sunlight may be a new experience — but then, so is fishing with a buzz bait.

Amy Manning of Belleville is a picture to behold as she poses for forest ranger David Kuykendall in the musical, "Little Mary Sunshine," playing at the Henry Ford Museum. The comedy, which is a spoof of early operettas, can be seen Friday and Saturday evenings through July 25. For ticket reservations, call 271-1620, extension 415. Tickets are priced at $4.25 with a dinner theatre program also available.

Wayne farm provides free tours

Have you ever had a close encounter with a goat? Had the opportunity to pet a colt or touch the nose of a calf? If not, the place to go for such experiences is the 4-H Pet-A-Farm at the Wayne County Cooperative Extension and Education Center in Wayne.

The pet-a-farm, a first for the center last summer, will remain open through Aug. 7. Funded through United Community Services, the farm will be staffed by veteran pet-a-farmer David Cook, Bruce Sullins and Al McDonald.

Groups of up to 25 persons will be treated to a slide presentation set to music on how to approach an animal, will visit the center's greenhouse and windmill, as well as its gardens and pond stocked with fish, then head for the barn, home for the pet-a-farm.

There will be an opportunity for a close visit with a pony and her colt, a calf, sow and her piglets, sheep, goats, chickens and ducks, and visitors also will be supplied with a fact sheet about the animals they will be meeting.

While the tours are free and open to the public, appointments are necessary and can be made for 10 and 11 a.m. or 1 and 2 p.m. Mondays through Fridays by contacting the center at 721-6576.

The Cooperative Extension and Education Center is located at 5454 Venoy Road, just north on Van Born Road in Wayne.

'Raiders'--two hours of spirited escapism

"Raiders of the Lost Ark" From Paramount Pictures. Executive Producers George Lucas and Howard Kazanjian. Directed by Steven Spielberg. Starring Harrison Ford and Karen Allen. Rated "PG."

"Close Encounters" Spielberg's names displayed prominently in the full-page newspaper advertisements for the adventure yarn.

What's so enticing about "Raiders"? Just about everything.

By STEVE WALZ
Special to Playtime

When "Raiders" started filming some 18 months ago, the crew was sworn to secrecy. Details about the film's storyline were virtually kept under lock and key.

That cloak of secrecy has now paid off handsomely, as "Raiders of the Lost Ark" is rapidly becoming the most talked about picture of 1981, gracing one magazine cover after another, and reeling in the dough at the box-office. Of course it doesn't hurt to have George "Star Wars" Lucas and Steven Lucas and Spielberg deliberately set out to make a film that they enjoyed watching as kids, namely a "Perils of Pauline" genre thriller with shades of "Casablanca" thrown in for good measure.

The film's hero, archaeologist Indiana Jones (Harrison Ford), could be considered the James Bond of the 1930's as he's sent out on a secret mission by the U.S. government to try and find out if a Nazi excavation in Egypt has uncovered the ark of the Covenant.

This biblical artifact supposedly has supernatural powers and any army that possesses it becomes an invincible legion. Indy discovers that the Nazis are digging in the wrong place, so he tries to unearth the Ark himself.

Of course there's nothing but death defying trouble along the way. Indy's on-again, off-again girlfriend, Marion (Karen Allen), is kidnapped. Then, he must contend with machete carrying Arabs, machine-gun toting Nazis, and then ultimately his archaeological nemesis, Belloq (Paul Freeman).

All this makes for an action-packed two hours of pure escapism, with more laughs and thrills than any pic you'll probably see this year.

Harrison Ford's portrayal of Indiana Jones is solid enough to be worthy of an Oscar. But I have a gut feeling that Messrs. Lucas and Spielberg will be getting all the kudos come Oscar time.

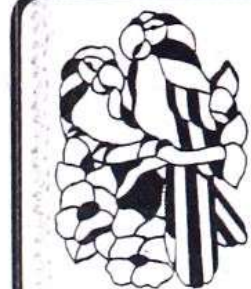

Trophies aside, go and see "Raiders" because this Lucas Film production is a glowing tribute to Hollywood's by-gone era, and as the song goes—nobody does it better—than Spielberg and Lucas.

Bill Murray earns his 'Stripes'.

A glowing tribute to Hollywood's past.

Bill Murray scores a hit with funny 'Stripes' script

"Stripes" From Columbia Pictures. Directed by Ivan Reitman. Written by Len Blum, Dan Goldberg and Harold Ramis. Starring Bill Murray, Harold Ramis, Warren Oates. Rated 'R.'

By J. T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

Bill Murray and the boys have gone from summer camp to boot camp, from the driving range to the artillery range, and from training on base running to basic training.

In short, they have put on "Stripes," but as can be expected with Bill Murray in military green, he'll have very few of those stripes burdening his shoulders.

The film could easily have been called "Meatballs joins the Army" or perhaps "Private Murray" as it surely capitalizes on the success of "Private Benjamin." If this film is any indication, we may see a whole string of military humor movies. Would you believe "Gomer Pyle" in 70mm?

Along with Murray are "the boys," as motley a collection of misfits as ever drove a drill sergeant to drink. Many of the names you may not recognize but the faces are familiar if you've ever caught any shows from the "Second City" comedy troupe on late-night TV. Together with Murray they turn this man's army into a farce that would surely please the mischievous mind of "Sergeant Bilko."

Although Murray's previous film, "Meatballs," made a lot of money, it was not a peak moment for high comedy; in fact a recent reviewing found it to be just plain dull. Most of the comedy weight rested on Murray's shoulders—he was asked to carry almost every scene.

In "Stripes" Murray's antics are still in abundance, but he is supplied here with not only funny co-stars, but a script with jokes—real jokes—so Murray doesn't seem to improvise every line.

Part of the appeal of an ensemble troupe like this is that roles and characters can be written with a specific actor in mind.

Director Ivan Reitman knows these crazies well, and he knows how to deploy their talents while providing some fine visual sight gags—all of which goes to prove George Carlin's concept that "military" and "intelligence" are mutually exclusive terms.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD L. BRIGGS JR.

Briggs-Ostrowski wedding followed by 10-day honeymoon in Bermuda

A 10-day honeymoon in Bermuda followed the June 6 marriage of Annette Ostrowski and Richard L. Briggs Jr. who are now making their home at 29 Menlo Park Dr., Belleville.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond M. Ostrowski of 4494 Tyler Rd., Belleville, the bride was escorted to the sanctuary of St. Anthony's Catholic Church by her father. The Rev. Raymond Bucon presided at the four o'clock rite which included organ music by Gwen Ashe and "The Wedding Song" sung by Lynn Wisniewski.

Carrying white carnations, pink roses, stephanotis and baby's breath centered with a white orchid, the bride was gown in white qiana. The V-cut sleeveless bodice featured a sheer yoke, high neckline and cape sleeves all embroidered in Venice lace. The empire waistline was attached to an accordion pleated skirt which cascaded into a chapel sweep.

A calf length veil of silk illusion banded in lace and secured by a little lace cap which had been purchased during a recent trip to Poland completed her bridal finery.

As her sister's maid of honor, Angela Ostrowski donned a qiana gown of suede rose made with cap sleeves, Peter Pan collar and gathered waistline. She wore a single rose-colored carnation in her hair and held a nosegay of matching carnations, daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids in identical rainbow-colored gowns of blue, peach, yellow and sweet pea were Mary Ostrowski and Mrs. Brian Shephard, two more sisters of the bride; Mrs. Daniel Myers of Ypsilanti, sister of the bridegroom; and Mrs. John Graham of Oscoda.

Three-year-old Christine Pietryla of Naperville, Ill. was flower girl in a little white lace frock. She carried a white wicker basket filled with pink roses and white carnations and had pink carnations and baby's breath tucked in her hair.

Ring bearer was 3-year-old Eric Myers of Ypsilanti, nephew of the bridegroom.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Briggs Sr. of 2035 Ide, Ypsilanti, the bridegroom chose Jeffrey Goins of Ann Arbor to be his best man. Groomsmen included Robert Lehto of Willis; Brian Shephard of Belleville, brother-in-law of the bride; Daniel Myers of Ypsilanti, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and John Briggs of Ypsilanti, a cousin.

Local 735 on Michigan Avenue was the setting for the dinner-dance reception which followed. Mrs. Ostrowski greeted some 250 guests in a 2-piece lavender gown with a companion jacket while Mrs. Briggs received in a blue print gown. Both were presented with corsages of white carnations edged in the collars of their dresses.

Both young people are 1978 graduates of Belleville High School and members of the Kalisz Song and Dance Ensemble. The new Mrs. Briggs is currently in her senior year at Eastern Michigan University and is an employee of the Van Buren Convalescent Center. Her husband works for 84 Lumber Company in Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at their home in Ypsilanti.

Rings, vows exchanged between F. Armatis, K. Hay

Double ring vows were exchanged at St. Anthony's Catholic Church between Karen E. Hay, the daughter of the Robert Hays of 1648 16th St., Wyandotte, and Francis E. Armatis, the son of the Francis W. Armatises of 21435 Wilmot Rd., Belleville.

The recent ceremony, conducted by The Rev. Raymond S. Skoney before some 100 guests, was followed by a reception at UAW Local 898 Hall in Ypsilanti.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a toe-touching gown of Chantilly lace over silk. A Sabrina neckline, long sleeves and lace-tied hooped skirt were styling details on the gown which terminated in a chapel train.

Her full-length veil, edged with matching lace, was held by a Juliet cap and her bouquet, a circular design, was comprised of white silk roses, gardenias, lilies of the valley and stephanotis surrounding eight pink roses.

Completing her ensemble was the opal and ruby engagement ring which had belonged to her great-grandmother.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were Debra Patterson of Allen Park as maid of honor in mint green; Elizabeth Hay and Nancy Hay, sisters of the bride, in pink; Mrs. Ricky Armatis of Ypsilanti, a sister-in-law, and Mrs. Thomas Busch of Belleville, the bridegroom's sister, in pale blue; and Mrs. James Sykes and Mrs. John Saksewski, sisters of the bridegroom, in light peach.

They wore qiana frocks fashioned with knitted lace bodices, cape sleeves and pleated skirts, and carried baskets filled with silk flowers to match their dresses.

The bridegroom's brother, Rick F. Armatis of Ypsilanti, headed the corps of ushers which included Monte Prouty of Ypsilanti; Roger Bowman of Belleville; Robert Hay Jr. of Detroit, the bride's brother; Thomas Busch, James Sykes and John Saksewski, all of Belleville and all brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Hay donned a pale blue gown of chiffon over satin to which she pinned her corsage of blue and white silk flowers. A similar corsage in yellow and white was pinned to the floral printed gown which the bridegroom's mother wore.

Since their return from a week-long honeymoon in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania, the newlyweds have been residing at 5 Birch, Belleville.

A 1975 graduate of Wyandotte's Roosevelt High School and the Detroit Business Institute, the bride is employed at Kimco, Inc. of Inkster. Her husband, a 1977 Belleville High School alumnus, is also with Kimco.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at the rehearsal dinner at their home on Wilmot Road.

MR. AND MRS. GARRY BOYD

Boyd, Tate repeat June nuptial vows

Grace L. Tate of 1911 N. Martha, Dearborn, and Garry Boyd of 48730 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands in a three o'clock ceremony June 28 at the Lord Fox Restaurant in Ann Arbor.

The Rev. Richard Singleton of Ann Arbor conducted the rite which united the daughter of the Frank Righettinis of 7628 Osage, Allen Park, and the son of the Bernard Boyds of 2485 Lake in the Woods Blvd., Ypsilanti.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in creamy white sheer nylon fashioned with long sleeves, high neckline and street-length skirt. Her bouquet was comprised of daisies and gardenias.

The bridegroom's four children making up the bridal coterie included Eve and Annie Boyd as maids of honor; 13 year old Garry Jr. as best man and 6 year old Max in the role of ringbearer.

Some 60 close friends and relatives were greeted by the mothers of the newlyweds: Mrs. Righettini in a pale blue floral frock and Mrs. Boyd in a pink ensemble.

Now residing at 48730 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, the Boyds are both employed at the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn.

The new Mrs. Boyd is a graduate of Wayne State University and the University of Michigan, Dearborn. Her husband, who affiliated with Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity, graduated magna cum laude from Michigan State University.

Belleville grads meet for 35th class reunion

It was reunion time June 20 for members of Belleville High School's class of 1946, their husbands and guests. Some 60 people gathered at the Poolside Room of Weber's in Ann Arbor for the evening of reminiscing and catching up.

Responsible for the successful 35th year get-together were Leona Chapman Walls, June Burton Harden, Louise Hoffman Sullens, Alice Whitmer Farr, Elaine Graham Stabnau, Darryl Raymond Jr. (who emceed the program) and James White, who began their planning sessions in March.

Patsy Fischer Dodge gave the invocation prior to dinner served at tables centered with red roses (the class flower) and baby's breath. A cake in the class colors, bearing the class motto, "Ever climbing upward," was furnished by Jim White.

The individual programs, compiled by Lee Walls, were dedicated to the five deceased members of the class: Lorraine Budrick, Betty Campbell, Ann Newton Walls, Isabel Ostrowski Wilson and Donald Weinman and included an original poem, a tribute to his classmates, written by Kenneth Harden.

Special recognition went to Bill and Shirley Hennells of Naples, Fla., who had traveled the farthest distance, and Ken and June Harden for having the most grandchildren. Other out-of-staters were Marjory Gault Bowick and her husband, Dr. Hubert Bowick of Easley, S.C.; Alton and Beatrice Pegouskie Crow of Estill, Tenn. and Mel and Firth Duffy Goodell of Janesville, Wisc. Mrs. Goodell had been the class sponsor along with the late Carl Simmons. Esther Smith of Denton, who had taught commercial subjects when the group was in high school, also attended. Others came from Ypsilanti, Livonia, Ann Arbor, Britton, Wayland, New Boston, Willis and Belleville.

Early deadline

Due to vacation scheduling, it will be necessary for all Suburban Living copy to be in one day earlier than usual next week — on Wednesday, July 22, at 2 p.m. — rather than the regular Thursday deadline.

potpourri

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

Today's lead might well be labeled "Study in Frustration" or, better still, "What a farce!"

And do I hear those of you who've ever attempted to choose a gift via the circuitous route of J. L. Hudson's bridal registry saying, "Hear, hear?" It HAS become a joke, hasn't it? A marvelous idea driven into the ground by today's rather wearisome and bewildering standards.

First off, it's an insult to the bride-to-be who takes the time (and it DOES take time) to study the many patterns available in china, casual dishes, crystal, silver, stainless — the variety of pots and pans (or in the vernacular, "cookware") — the ever changing small appliances and their myriad of colors — and then there's the kaleidoscope of bath and bedroom linens not to mention those important (and expensive) accessories in wood, wicker, pewter, ironstone, brass, copper, lucite, enamel — you name it!

It's become a sham because a good percentage of what she selects is not even in stock, is available through special order only and then doesn't arrive in time for her showers or wedding.

And J.L.H.'s answer to those charges are simply, "Why, you can just give a gift enclosure saying the item is on its way, you know." Big deal!

Today I spent over two hours hunting for a kitchen shower gift, using the honoree-to-be's compiled and computerized list. I had in mind placemats and napkins but wanted to see her everyday dishes to make a match.

"Oh, she wants Dansk —. We don't even stock a sample for you to see, I'm afraid," a really very nice salesperson said. Still attempting to be helpful, she DID inquire of her exiting manager whether there was a catalog she could show me. After waiting over 10 minutes (one-sixth of an hour already shot), the reply came back negative. (There are just too many Dansk patterns to have at each store — only the BIG ones have them.) So, Briarwood isn't one of the BIG ones? And why, to begin with, take on more than can be handled? Why not a smaller variety with availability?

Meandering from the dishes over to glassware, I spied cute "bumpy-looking" sherbets and had the inspiration to do an ice cream presentation — eight of the dishes for sundae, an ice cream scoop, a variety of toppings and nuts and a cents-off coupon I happen to have for America's favorite.

Strike TWO! Those four on display were the last of those sherbets, and one of 'em was cracked. Scratch THAT plan!

Pitchers! Aha, the bridegroom's mother is a martini buff! So how about that slim glass one and perhaps a swizzle stick, bartender's guide and the main ingredient? Good idea, Lee!

"Miss, I'd like one of these — but without the flaw here on the lip, okay?" Again, I had a lovely gal waiting on me and, again, I was shot down with, "That's our entire selection of pitchers, m'am. And because they're not our finer glassware, MOST of them have blemishes."

Well, having been to the Tiffin Crystal Company's outlet store, I knew I could get that very pitcher, complete with air bubble, for half the price. I surely did not want anyone thinking I'd picked it up at a warehouse. For ME, yes; for a gift, uh-uh!

Okay, enough for trying to be clever; let's see what her stainless is. Oneida Act One (all stores, it said in brackets). "Well, miss, why don't you show me the silver."

Strike THREE! "Gee, I'm embarrassed to tell you but we don't carry Act One at this store." Pointing out the "all stores" to her, she explained that it meant Oneida BRAND was stocked by all stores NOT all patterns.

Now I realize there's no strike four but I was adamant about making a purchase then and there; shower time was just a day and a half away! So — remembering the meat cookbook I'd sent for and received a few days back, I figured to work around THAT. Scanning the hard-to-read roster, I found white Corning Ware.

"Let's give it one more try, Miss. How about an oval roaster dish?"

Someone else must have beaten me to that very question since she turned from confident tan to embarrassed pink immediately while shaking her head and answering, "Oh, I can't believe this! We're out of that number, too!"

Need I say more about that once wonderful customer service called Hudson's Bridal Registry?

Those of us who've taken to that addictive, pastime which involves blood, sweat and tears — namely, GOLF — are always happy to hear that someone has scored a hole-in-one.

But when it's a member of the distaff side, we gals take especial delight in the accomplishment! (Could it be that we get just a wee bit pumped up knowing that "one of our own" has beaten the tremendous odds... and that we, too...?)

The 9th hole at Washtenaw Country Club will be special from here on in for Sally Griffith of Belleville since it was on the 133-yarder that she watched her little white orb find its way into the cup. Sally's 3-wood shot was witnessed and her surprise shared by her best friend, hubby "Griff."

And, Sally says, her comeback on the 10th shows what a calming effect her ace had on her — she shot a 10!

For you little kindergartners out at Quirk who just might be wondering: yes, it WAS your kindergarten teacher!

Since I always get such good feedback from readers when they try (and like) a recipe I've used, it's with great pleasure that I've another to recommend this week.

With my "reference file" (the vegetable recipes I've clipped all year) ready and waiting for the harvest which BG's earlier efforts are now producing, it was "time for a new dish."

Last week it was gorgeous broccoli and most of it is now tucked away in the freezer. One bunch had already started to blossom, however, so I deemed IT the guinea pig ingredient for the Broccoli Cream Soup I'd been anxious to give a "go."

BROCCOLI CREAM SOUP

- 1 small head fresh broccoli, chopped (or)
- 1 (10-oz.) package frozen chopped broccoli
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 (10½-oz.) can condensed chicken broth
- 2 tablespoons butter or oleo
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups half and half (I experimented with Dari Rich and it worked!)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon basil, finely crumbled
- ¼ teaspoon white pepper
- 1 — Combine broccoli, onions and broth; heat to boiling and simmer 5 minutes.
- 2 — Turn into blender jar or food processor and blend until smooth (or whatever consistency you like.)
- 3 — Melt butter in pan and blend in flour; let bubble. Stir in broccoli mixture, half and half, salt, basil and pepper. Heat slowly, just to boiling, then simmer a couple minutes, stirring.
- 4 — Serve plain or topped with croutons or sliced almonds.

THE BOTTOM LINE: He who laughs last probably intended to tell the story himself.

Short subjects...

SUMMER PICK-UP

Whether it's just you or the family or guests, a nice way to start a summer luncheon is with Spicy Bouillon. It's beef bouillon with a special zest and the zest is provided by Country Time lemonade flavor drink mix.

Simply combine 1 scoop of sugar-sweetened lemonade flavor drink mix, 3 cups beef bouillon, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1/8 teaspoon hot pepper sauce. Stir to dissolve drink mix, then serve over crushed ice or ice cubes.

FRUIT-FLAVORED REFRESHERS

When the temperature soars, kids love to cool off with almost any form of Kool-Aid soft drink mix. While a pitcherful of any favorite flavor brimming with ice cubes is sure to bring instant joy to a youngster, moms should be aware of other quick and easy treats this product can provide.

For example, Fruit-Flavored Sherbet is a refreshing frozen dessert with but two simple ingredients. Dissolve 1 cup Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix — any flavor — in 3 cups milk. If the mixture appears curdled, don't be upset. Pour into shallow nonmetal container or bowl and freeze until partially firm. Spoon into a chilled bowl and beat until smooth but not melted. Freeze until firm, for about 2 hours.

MORE THAN MEETS THE EYE

There are times when a product's name and use is so specific that you just don't realize its versatility. Take Open Pit barbecue sauce, for example. Now most of us realize it's a wonderful basting sauce for grilled pork, chicken or beef. But, how many think of using it as a cocktail dip?

If you're planning on serving small meatballs or frankfurters at your next party, try Zesty Cocktail Dip as a change of pace. Just combine 1 1/2 cups Open Pit barbecue sauce and one 10-oz. jar of currant jelly in a saucepan. Cook and stir until jelly is melted and prepare yourself for a sweet/sour dip that's both different and delicious. Makes about 2 cups.

Last call for 'good and bad' golfers

Last call for the "good and the bad" golfers.

If you're planning to compete in the 1981 City Championship Golf Tournament, then better get your entry into your recreation department or The Associated Newspapers' offices before 5 p.m., Monday, July 20.

That's the deadline to enter the tournament which will be staged the weekend of Saturday and Sunday, July 25-26 at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton Township.

"I have not looked at all of the entries," said Bill Hawley, tournament manager. "But I know we have nearly 65 golfers now. I suspect we'll have well over the 100 mark before deadline time on Monday."

Golfers who live or are employed in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Canton and Garden City are welcomed to compete for the city titles of those cities.

The tournament, open to male amateur golfers, is designed to pick the top five golfers from each of the competing cities and send them on to the Michigan Parks and Recreation state finals which will be held at a later date.

The golfers will play 36 holes — 18 on Saturday, and return Sunday for the final 18.

There is a $22 entry fee which covers the cost of green's fees and trophies.

Johnson's leads Wayne Class A softball parade

Johnson's Carbonic took another step toward the regular season championship with a convincing 14-3 win over last place Star Optical in the Wayne Class A men's league.

The 17-hit victory ran the league-leader's mark to 11-3, a game and a half ahead of second-place Greg Emergency Room's 9-4 salute.

Mark Lipinski's single and double and two runs batted in, Dave Conlin's over-the-fence 3-run blast and Bill Hughes three singles and three RBIs give pitcher Dennis Cowell the win.

Star Optical's Vic Mimiach was the losing hurler. Kevin Morine paced Star's hitting attack with two singles and a double and Don Farmer slapped two singles to drive in two runs.

Greg's ran its mark to 9-4 in a battle for second place with Pittman's installation when a 6-run explosion in the first inning got them off and running.

Pittman's responded with four of their own in the first, but two runs in the second and four more in the top of the third frame sent Greg's coasting to the 13-4 win. Greg's 19-hit attack was led by Terry Kadlec's three singles and four by Chuck Truskowski. Gary Knapp had two singles and two RBIs and Jeff Carter singled and tripled home a pair of tallies.

Pittman's, whose record fell to 8-5, was led at the plate by Pat Bledsoe, who hammered one over the fence and singled for two RBIs. Gary Pierce, giving up four runs and four hits in four innings was winning pitcher and Rick Pittman was tagged with the loss.

Class A men's action was rounded out when Wayne Assembly moved one game over .500 with a 14-4 trouncing of Perkins Engines, who dropped to 4-10.

Wayne Assembly got 7-hit pitching from winning hurler Jim Kolach, who aided his cause with these singles for two runs batted in. Teammates Bill Krynak (two singles and triple) and Bob Buckthorpe's three singles paced the 18-hit Assembly attack. Larry Dye, Perkins' hurler who was roughed up for 12 hits and nine runs in 4 innings, was losing pitcher.

Upsets marked the Men's Class B action in Wayne.

First place Pour Devil Lounge managed to avert defeat by scoring single runs in five innings to edge seventh place Jack's Sport Center, 5-4. Both teams got nine hits as pitchers Ron Hays for Jack's and Don Yanich battled right down to the final out. Rick Williams of Pour Devil was the hitting star of the game with a single and triple.

Second place Unistrut-Detroit hammered out 19 hits, but went scoreless after the fourth inning in losing a heart-breaker, 10-9, in 11 innings to the Raiders. The loss dropped -D to 9-2 while Raiders moved to 6-5.

Jeff Baher's four singles paced the Raiders, 18-hit spree and mates Kevin Macky had two and Paul Rutherford rapped three to give hurler Ken Skyluzak the victory. Ron Bernard's single, two doubles and triple for two RBIs could not avert defeat for pitcher Jeff Hogan for U-D.

The story of the week was pitcher Joe Sowa's 7-hit shutout of third place Second Street Market as Century 21/Drakes Lounge took a 5-0 verdict. Joe pelped his own cause with three singles and Dan Sowa added three singles of his own.

Hurler Jim Deck pitched well himself in giving up nine hits and only two runs the last six innings for the Market boys, whose marke dropped to 7-5.

Lucille's remained winless in dropping its 12th straight, a 20-3 trouncing at the hands of Roger Hurd Karate. It was one "karate chop" after the other at the plate as Hurd's heroes rapped 18 hits, paced by Jeff Puzetti's three singles and two RBIs. Mates John Bullard (single and triple) and Ted Rize's three singles also led the way.

The game ended on the mercy-rule when Hurd's scored 12 runs in the bottom of the 5th. Rize was the winning pitcher, giving up only four hits and Jeff Jirkowsky was the victim of Hurd's attack.

Duel for varsity sports

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

New Boston Huron athletes apparently are ready to join Belleville High's in the "mass exodus".

The verbal exchange Monday night at the Huron Board of Education leaves that despairing thought. High school varsity sports are definitely in jeopardy.

And, although the educational process is supposed to stride didactically, without a viable athletic program, schools as you and I knew them will soon become extinct.

The boards of education — and let it be clearly stated here we are not affixing any blame on them or anyone — are forced to make cutbacks because "the money just isn't there". When the trustees go to the voters, the voters' response is almost predictable when it comes to additional mills — "No".

And "No" also means cutbacks and elimination of "frills," which means no sports program.

Well, Huron has "pink-slipped" veteran athletic director Hank Smith who now becomes a classroom teacher, and the high school is without an AD. It really doesn't need one because the board has cut out varsity athletics.

But, as in most community, a group has emerged in hopes of keeping at least varsity sports alive. The group, led by Wayne Younglove and Paul Teague, feels they can raise the necessary $75,000 for the athletic program.

Defying the odds, Younglove told the trustees that his group has commitments from families to raise the money. Each family that has a child who competes in a varsity program would cough up $125.

But, Edward Umin, who has had a couple of outstanding athletes in his family, whose sons have performed well in athletics at the high school, and is newly elected as school board president, warned Younglove "that you better be careful and get the money upfront. Because in all of my years of experience in helping to raise money for more programs I have learned that some of these people won't respond when they find that their child rides the bench."

To that Younglove came back with: "Do you know that I talked to a mother whose son only played seven seconds of varsity football last year, and she said that if he only plays seven seconds this year, I'll gladly pay."

That's the kind of fiber most athlete's parents are made of. And what we fear most from here is that these cutbacks caused by the economy and high taxes may soon become permanent.

And, before I leave, I promised Carl at the Westland Municipal Golf Course I'd get this note in. It's about Vivinne Melnik, who has been golfing in these parts for the past 10 years but last Sunday came up with what all golfers dream about — a hole in one.

Vivinne carded her ace on the 160-yard, 8th hole, using a 5-iron. And she carded a 53 for the 9-holes.

"And, believe me, was she happy," said Carl who has been delinquent phoning in the aces this year.

"I thought you have up on sports," he said.

Never.

Tecumseh to host PGA tourney meet

Tecumseh Country Club will host the Michigan Professional Golfers Association match-play championship for the second consecutive year on July 19-22. More than 100 pros are entered in the prestigious event which will have the pro-amateur round on Sunday, July 19 and begin qualifying play on July 20. Match play begins Tuesday, July 21 with the semi-finals and finals slated for July 22.

Last year, 66 pros entered with 32 qualifying for match-play competition. Jack Seltzer, then pro at Hillsdale Country Club, defeated Dave Field of Ann Arbor for the title. Seltzer won a check for $1,000 plus a trip for two to the Caribbean. Field won $700 and a trip to Las Vegas.

Tecumseh Country Club's 6,500 layout is considered short for the pros, but the greens are well trapped and a large number of fairway bunkers and trees present problems.

In the 1980 qualifying round, host club pro Stan Brion led all qualifiers with a 68 as five pros had par rounds of 72 or better. Extremely fast greens, considered the finest in this area by many players, was the main reason 18 pros shot rounds of 80 or higher in last year's tourney.

Honeybees capture title

Thomason, Dibble win golf title

With one week of play left in the Canton Recreation Fox Hills Men's Golf League, Lloyd Dibble and John Thomason have already won Division A.

They swept all five points from Don Ponte and Glen Ponte to come in with 30 points after seven weeks of league play.

Mike Ryan and Charlie Freece took all 5 from Virge Mooney and Harry Ackley to come in with a total of 26½ points in Division B to lead the pack.

Larry Slade and Frank Jones are 3 points behind as they took 3½ out of 5 from Charlie Broeck and Jim Burt. Will Jacobs again posted the best round as he had a 37.

Dick Kraft and Bill Lindley each carded 38's, and Mike Moggio came in with a 39.

81-223

6A(2) Motion by Cantrell, supported by Yeramian, to adopt Resolution 81-223: Resolution 81-223

House Bill No. 4540

WHEREAS: The Legislative and Administrative Officials of the City of Romulus have the responsibility to protect the health, safety, and welfare of the citizens of the City of Romulus; paramount of those responsibilities is to provide police protection; and

WHEREAS: State Legislature is currently considering for adoption a bill, namely, House Bill No. 4540, which would amend the title and Sections 2, 3, 4, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 14 of Act No. 203 of Public Acts of 1965 entitled "Michigan law enforcement officers training council act of 1965", and Sections 9, 11, and 14, as amended by Act No. 422 of Public Acts of 1976. The Act provides for the creation of a law enforcement officers training council within the State of Michigan and establishes for the 'council' provisions of authority and responsibility to prepare, publish and inspect standards for the employment and training of law enforcement officers; and

WHEREAS: House Bill No. 4540, would enable law enforcement officers, having completed mandatory training requirements and having served more than one (1) years, and less than seven (7) years, to remain 'certified' for a period of twenty-four (24) months of discontinued service; and those having served more than seven (7) years, to remain 'certified' for a period of three (3) years of discontinued service. In other words, House Bill No. 4540 would extend the certification of law enforcement officers for a period from six (6) months to one (1) year beyond that presently promulgated by law; and

WHEREAS: Circumstances beyond our control have required the City of Romulus to organize its own Police Department and recruit law enforcement officers, a service previously contracted through the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, for same. Subsequent thereto, the City of Romulus has been pressured to overcome the problem of recruiting qualified law enforcement officers within a limited period of time; and

WHEREAS: The Legislative and Administrative Officials of the City of Romulus have experienced a particular hardship in their attempt to recruit qualified law enforcement officers, in that it has had to turn away two (2), otherwise qualified law enforcement officers, had their certification been extended for an additional six (6) months. It should be noted that the City of Romulus has presently, only eighteen (18) law enforcement officers attempting to service a population of over twenty-five thousand (25,000). Further, it should be noted that the extension of the certification criteria provisions in House Bill No. 4540 would permit the City of Romulus to absorb the two (2) qualified law enforcement officers and possibly increase the likelihood that numerous other law enforcements officers would become eligible for employment; and

WHEREAS: The Legislative and Administrative Officials of the City of Romulus can ill afford the restrictions presently posed by P.A. 203 of 1965 and P.A. 422 of 1976, as amended, in that they are affecting a direct hardship upon this city in its attempt to implement its own police department and thereby provide for the safety of the citizens of this community.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus that it does herewith set forth its support for House Bill No. 4540, and encourage the State Legislature to adopt same and thereby assist the City of Romulus in its present crisis of providing adequate police protection for the citizens of the City of Romulus;

FURTHER, BE IT RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Representative Edward E. Mahalak and Senator Gary M. Owen and Senator William Faust.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Canejo, Cantrell, Raspberry, Rush, Yeramian, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried.

81-224

Motion by Yeramian, supported by Rush, to adopt Resolution 81-224 A & B: Resolution 81-224(A)

House Bill No. 4386

WHEREAS: State Legislature is currently considering for adoption, House Bill No. 4386, a bill to amend Sections 13, 14, 19 and 22 of Act No. 106 of the Public Acts of 1972 entitled "Highway Advertising Act of 1972" and Sections 13 and 22 as amended by Act No. 265 of the Public Acts of 1976; and

WHEREAS: The Legislative and Administrative Officials of the City of Romulus must continually seek means to improve the quality of life of the citizens of the City of Romulus; and, to that end, not only create elements that would enhance the beauty of its community but, where necessary, eliminate those elements that contribute to its degradation; and

WHEREAS: House Bill No. 4386, established criteria for the size, placement and visual display of billboards (signs) on the interstate highways, freeways and primary highways. Of particular concern to the City of Romulus is Section 19 thereof, which reads as follows "A sign lawfully erected which does not conform to section 13 (1) (E) or 13 (3) shall not be required to be moved until the end of the second year of non-conformance". Said concern arises from the fact that no corresponding maintenance requirements exist for those non-conforming sign which have been condemned; and

WHEREAS: The aforementioned grace-period, per se, for condemned signs as stipulated in House Bill No. 4386, would give rise to the possibility and in all likelihood probability, that they would receive no maintenance for the duration of their display; and thus, become an eyesore in this community. The net affect being that said sign would contribute significantly to the degradation of this community.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus that it does herewith set forth its concern for that portion of House Bill No. 4386 which speaks to a two (2) year grace-period (specifically, Section 19 thereof) in that said stipulation would contribute to the degradation, as addressed heretofore, of this community.

FURTHER, BE IT RESOLVED: In the aforementioned spirit, the City of Romulus does hereby petition the State Legislature to exercise the authority vested therein and therewith rewrite Section 19 of House Bill No. 4386 to specify a more reasonable grace-period, i.e., one that would not be a contributing factor in permitting signs that have been condemned to remain erected, and to rewrite Section 19 of House Bill No. 4386 to specify therein that condemned signs meet all requirements of conforming signs for the duration of their display.

FINALLY BE IT RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Representative Edward E. Mahalak, Senator Gary M. Owen and Senator William Faust.

Resolution 81-224(B)

House Bill No. 4385

WHEREAS: The Legislative and Administrative Officials of the City of Romulus have a responsibility to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of this community, and to that end must address issues which would benefit or inhibit the pursuit of a reasonable livelihood; and

WHEREAS: State Legislature is currently considering for adoption House Bill No. 4385, a bill to amend section 14a of Act No. 348 of the Public Acts of 1965 entitled "Air pollution act", as amended by Act No. 100 of the Public Acts of 1976; and

WHEREAS: Portions of House Bill No. 4385 would inhibit the pursuit of a reasonable livelihood of many of our citizens; specifically, addressed in the following:

(1) Section 14a of House Bill No. 4385 speaks to the surveillance fees, i.e., those fees collected for purposes of supporting Air Pollution Programs; fees ranging from Twenty-five ($25.00) to Eight-thousand ($8,000.00) dollars. The concerns here arises out of the fact that the City of Romulus is a community of approximately twenty-five thousand (25,000) in population. Within that population, are numerous small local businesses, struggling to survive. The 'fees' as proposed are excessive for small businesses and would therefore cause a 'hardship' to those small businesses; and

(2) Section 14a of House Bill No. 4385 also provides for the placement of 'surveillance fees' into the State General Fund. It is the position of the City of Romulus that said fees, once collected, should be placed directly into a General Fund where it could possibly be used to support other programs for which its purpose was not intended.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED: By the City Council of the City of Romulus that it does herewith set forth its opposition to the Sections of House Bill No. 4385 addressed hereinabove.

FURTHER, BE IT RESOLVED: That the City of Romulus does hereby petition State Legislatures to exercise the authority vested therein and reconsider those sections of House Bill No. 4385 addressed hereinabove; firstly, because of its potential adverse affects on the small local businesses of this community and secondly, because of its failure to establish a specific fund for fees collected for the support of Air Pollution Programs and therein assure that the City of Romulus, as well as other communities receive all benefits derived from said fees.

FINALLY BE IT RESOLVED: That copies of this resolution be forwarded to Representative Edward E. Mahalak, Senator Gary M. Owen and Senator William Faust.

Roll call vote showing: Ayes - Yeramian, Canejo, Cantrell, Raspberry, Rush, Banks. Nays - None. Motion carried.

Flower Tips

Beauty can be poison

OLIVER BIGELOW

Poison, usually considered an indoor hazard, also is a potential danger in some plant forms.

Parents, grandparents and others entrusted to the care of children should be on the lookout for plants that can cause paralysis, serious illness and death if eaten. Unfortunately, some of the most handsome flowers and plants contain substances that are lethal.

Most persons know of the contact poisons found in poison ivy and poison sumac, but fewer realize the hazards in woodland lady slipper, stinging nettles, ragweed and buttercups. All can produce a dermatitis of serious consequences in some individuals. We should all learn to avoid these culprits and we should campaign to make known other truly lethal plant poisons.

The "shady reputation" of the castor oil plant, a striking annual foliage plant, is a case in point. Only of late have castor seed packets carried a cautionary warning. But this is not enough. Three of its beautifully marked beans, when eaten, are sufficient to kill a child.

The purple-black berries of the common privet (Ligustrum vulgare), a popular hedging material, ripen in September. They too, can endanger a child.

The seeds and foliage of both the delphinium and wild barkspar are poisonous since they contain delphinine, another toxic substance. The attractive winter-blooming Christmas rose, (Helleborus niger), contains a very strong purgative and lethal poisons. The evergreen yew, particularly Taxus baccata, produces leaves and seeds containing taxine, a deadly poison.

All parts of the autumn crocus (colchicum autumnale) are poisonous, particularly the corms, which are sometimes mistaken for onions. The flowers and leaves of the rhododendron contain andromedotoxin, which can cause vomiting and death.

A favorite garden biennial, the foxglove, produces leaves in its second year that yield digitalis, an oft-prescribed cardiac stimulant that is lethal when taken in excessive doses.

Poison hemlock (conium maculatum), the brew of Socrates, is a biennial herb of the carrot family. It grows in the wilds near streams and sometimes is mistaken for cow parsnip or wild carrot. It paralyzes the respiratory system.

If any of the above poisons are encountered, seek prompt expert help at the first sign of pain, headache, vomiting drowsiness or convulsions.

Knowledge of the poison encountered and — if possible — a specimen of the plant involved can help the doctor in his treatment. This is no time for home remedies. Antidotes sometimes are as dangerous as the poisons themselves and should be administered by physicians or personnel at local poison control centers.

The most dangerous plants have attractive flowers, tempting berries or enticing leaves. The ever-popular lily of the valley has leaves that contain three constituents that depress the heart, much like the foxglove.

A good rule to learn and to pass onto the next generation for their safety is, "When in doubt, don't eat it. When unsure, don't touch it."

Questions concerning poison consumption should be referred to your local Poison Information Control and information Center, or call (313) 494-5711.

Tradition, romance produce memories

In these days when showers and parties abound, tradition and romance are the two key words to today's weddings, with resultant beautiful memories for all.

Today's couples have taken a serious look at the beautiful ideals of the marriage vows. They want their weddings to reflect both the joy and the solemnity that will constitute their union.

If wedding trends are turning back to the romantic formalities of yesteryear, the reason goes beyond mere nostalgia. Modern couples seem to have gained deep respect for the dignity of this traditional ceremony and wish to affirm the fact that a wedding is the symbol of a commitment to a lifetime of shared experiences.

The following are just a few of the steps as recommended by Barbara Lee Follett in her book "Check List For A Perfect Wedding."

1) Decide what type of wedding you will have, the degree of formality and approximate size.

2) Set the date and hour for the wedding. Reserve the church and make certain the clergyman is available. At the same time reserve the church for rehearsal. Note the correct full name of the church for invitations.

3) After considering the size of your guest list, decide where you will hold the reception. Note: Experience shows that from one fourth to one third of those invited will be unable to attend.

4) Select the bridesmaids from among your close friends. Don't choose your maid or matron of honor "from the ranks." Invite her specifically for this special place. If the groom has a sister of reasonable age, invite her to be a bridesmaid. This can be the first step toward a good relationship.

5) Remind the groom to select his ushers and best man and hope he will include your brother. One usher is needed for every fifty guests. There need not be the same number of bridesmaids as ushers.

6) Copy bridesmaids' and ushers' names and addresses on your file cards; you will need them frequently. Make up duplicate lists of bridesmaids and ushers for friends who will want to include them in pre-wedding parties.

7) Begin the card file of wedding guests. Ask the groom and his family to send in their lists of guests. Designate the number of guests you can accommodate. The groom's family does not always realize how early you will need their lists, so set a deadline.

8) If the reception is to be held at a hotel, restaurant or club, make the reservation now.

Follett then goes on to talk about engaging the caterer, the photographer, the florist and musicians.

She stresses allowing at least six weeks for delivery if your wedding gown has been ordered. She also recommends that your wedding shoes and lingerie be purchased before the fitting of the wedding gown.

An important note concerning the bridesmaids' dresses — a brief consultation with each regarding how much they can afford to spend, (for they are responsible in purchasing their dresses), is only fair. Remember they will also have the expense of other gifts throughout the pre-wedding showers and parties.

The same responsibilities are applicable to the groom, his best man and the ushers, as far as renting their tuxedos.

Follett strongly believes that "Every step you take early does not have to be taken later." As you get caught up in the whirlwind of festivities, if you have followed through Follett's entire check list and marked off each step then you will be sure to have a most memorable wedding right down to the photographs that will continue to replenish your memory as the years pass on.

Honeymoon haven

A veil of mist rises up from the majestic Niagara Falls, still one of the most romantic spots in the world. The ideal way to experience the Falls is from the deck of the Maid of the Mist, which cruises past the American Falls to the very base of the Horseshoe Falls for an unparalleled view of the rushing waters.

Wedding customs reviewed

My lady carries love within her eyes;

All that she looks on is made pleasanter;

Upon her path men turn to gaze at her;

He whom she greeteth feels his heart to rise.

—D.G. Rossetti

A Love Song

If you have been married during the Renaissance, you probably would have received an epithalamion... a song or poem written just for your wedding... a unique expression of your love and a lasting tribute to the moment.

Wedding Customs

The practice of giving the bride away is not absolutely necessary in a wedding... however, it is a custom of long-standing.

Then farewell care, and farewell woe,

I will no longer pine; For I'll believe I have her heart

As long as she has mine.

—Sir John Suckling (1609-1642)

Verse for the Week

Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge: they people shall be my people, and they God my God.

—Book of Ruth 1:16

Wedding Bouquets

During the Renaissance, the bride also carried sheaves of grain along with flowers. By the eighteenth century however, the tradition remained for the bride to carry only flowers.

Wedding Etiquette

Gifts received the last few days before the wedding need not be acknowledged until after the wedding.

Wedding budget must remain highly flexible to meet hidden costs

If you've hummed with the songsters the "The Best Things In Life Are Free", and consider a wedding to be one of those things, forget it.

A wedding even in its simplest form is never even inexpensive let alone free.

A wedding budget has to be highly flexible, for there are many hidden costs. One unflinching way to combat the inflation that is always with them, start planning as soon as the date is set. Get all arrangements in writing and signed in triplicate, as a bit of insurance against coronary arrest when the bills come rolling in.

American society, made up of many cultures and different customs, still holds that the whole show is the financial responsibility of the bride and her family.

They are liable for the invitations, announcements, including pew cards, envelopes and reception cards; for the rental of place of reception and all necessary accessories and equipment, and for all decorations.

They are responsible for the musicians fees; the transportation of the women attendants to and from the church; the men of the female-attendants; the bride's gift to the attendants and for the hotel accommodations of any out-of-town bridesmaids who cannot be accommodated in homes of relatives or friends. They pay for the trousseau, for all the food and drink at the reception.

This is common practice in most cultures.

It is imperative that in the case of a wealthy boy marrying a girl from a less wealthy family for example, the social standing of the boy's family should not work a hardship on the budget of the bride's house.

In some cases of this type, the bridegroom's family has offered to help with the tab. This is a private matter and should be settled privately, preferably and solely between the fathers concerned.

If the offer is not accepted by the bride's side then it should be dropped and the boy's parents be content with what the bride's parents have to offer.

Otherwise, the bridegroom and/or his family pay for the engagement and wedding rings (the bride pays for the bridegroom's ring if there is one); license fees, contribution to church and officiating individual.

He also pays for the bride's bouquet and the flowers worn by the mothers and other honored guests such as grandmothers.

He buys his best man and ushers, their boutonnieres (and their ties and gloves for a formal ceremony), plus a gift commemorating the occasion.

When it comes to diamonds, it pays to know your carats

You've got the right girl, your plans are made — all you really need now is the ring.

And choosing that special ring is very important, notes the Jewelry Industry Council, pointing out that today's young couple spends between $750 and $1,000 on the engagement ring.

Such an expenditure deserves very careful consideration. Since the average young man is no gemological expert, it makes good sense to get as much professional help in choosing a diamond as possible. The Council advocates "if you don't know diamonds, know your jeweler."

Your family jeweler will be more than happy to point out the four important aspects that determine the value of a diamond — the "Four C's," as they are called. These include:

- Cut: Refers to the shape of the diamond. This includes the popular round or "brilliant" cut; the rectangular emerald cut; the boat-shaped marquise; the oval, pear and heart shape.

This skill and precision of the stone's faceting, polishing and proportioning are important. Only a precisely cut diamond can trap and concentrate light for maximum refractive fire.

- Color: Thought by some to be the most important determinant of diamond value. The ideal diamond is crystal clear. Most diamonds are lightly tinged with yellow or brown. A bit of color detracts from a diamond's value, but seldom diminishes the stone's lovely sparkle.

- Clarity: Refers to the internal quality of the stone. Ninety-nine percent of diamonds over half a carat show some internal imperfection or inclusion when viewed under magnification.

A tiny white bubble, cloudy areas, nicks, cracks or a carbon spot are common inclusions. As with a slight coloring, inclusions lessen a diamond's value, but seldom detract from its beauty.

- Carat: The measure of diamond weight. One carat equals a mere 200 milligrams or 1-142nd of an ounce. Even Elizabeth Taylor's spectacular 69½-carat diamond weighs slightly less than half an ounce, the same as an air-mail letter. A carat is divided into 100 points; thus, a half carat stone weighs 50 points.

The Council adds a fifth, and perhaps most important "C" of all: confidence in your jeweler. Deal with a reputable jeweler who will discuss frankly how the diamond you have chosen measures up.

But, be confident — after all, you've chosen the right gem of a girl!

Expert advice

Let your jeweler guide you when it comes to selecting that very important diamond engagement ring, advises the Jewelry Industry Council. Cut, color, clarity and carat weight determine the value of a diamond and the average person needs the help of a trained expert to analyze the worth of a given stone.

Pearls have been the traditional jewels for brides from the earliest times. Here the bride wears a double-strand necklace of cultured pearls on the happiest day of her life.

Custom of wearing pearls dates back to legend

Hindu legend credits the discovery of the first pearl to the great god, Vishnu. The legend holds that Vishnu drew the pearl from the sea and presented it to his daughter on her wedding day, thus setting a precedent for millions of brides down through the ages.

Mary Queen of Scots was given four hundred large, lustrous white pearls as a wedding gift. These were so coveted by her cousin, Queen Elizabeth, that they are said to be one of the reasons for Mary's imprisonment and later execution.

Society's elite, however, continued to observe the custom of wearing pearls on the wedding day.

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis wore a single choker of cultured pearls and simple pearl earrings as the only jewels to accompany her magnificent wedding dress.

And, when Mariana Simonescu recently wed tennis star Bjorn Borg, she wore a pearl-encrusted gown and veil which cost more than $7,000.

Although wedding protocol has become more relaxed over the years, and styles in wedding dresses now range from formal to casual, cultured pearls are still considered the most appropriate jewels for a bride to wear.

The question is, what style of pearl necklace will look best with a particular bridal dress?

- The choker is the shortest cultured pearl necklace, about 15" long. It falls to just above the collarbone, and is traditionally worn with a high round neckline, but is also appropriate with a scooped neckline.

- The princess length is 18" long and falls just below a turtleneck collar. This length is lovely with a deep, scooped neckline.

- The matinee necklace, 20" to 24" long, falls halfway between the neckline and bosom. This length is lovely with a high-standing collar, as well as with round or scooped-neck collars.

- The opera length is 28" to 30", falling just past the bosom. An elegant look, it is most appropriate with high-standing collars.

Some advance planning can help ease anxiety on that special day

• Decide what kind of wedding you want, where it will be (church, synagogue, club, public hall, or home) and how much you can afford to spend. (Take into account immediate future needs: honeymoon expenses, housing and household equipment, and wardrobe; also what you have in savings and how much the parents are willing to pay.)

• Pick out the site and visit with the officiating clergyman. Fix a date and a time. Ask whether you may select your own scriptural readings, or write your own marriage lines. Most religions now permit this. Sign up for premarital counseling if you think you need it.

• Decide on attendants, wedding guests and how many will be invited to the reception. (No fair knocking 100 off his list and adding 200 to yours.)

• Arrange a place and time for the reception following your wedding.

• Talk to the caterers, florists, musicians about your wedding and reception requirements.

• Enroll with the bridal consultant of your favorite store to select your wedding dress, veil and accessories; your attendants' outfits (these usually take 8 to 10 weeks for delivery), and register your china, crystal, silver and other patterns. When you have selected the attendants' fabrics, ask for swatches so you can get the florist to match flower colors and ribbons to the bridal motif.

• Buy the wedding rings.

• This is a good time to think about hard facts like insurance, furniture and financial arrangements.

Two months before the wedding:

• Complete your flower orders for both ceremony and reception. (Remember flowers are seasonal and no matter where they are grown or how they are shipped, advance notice is needed.)

• Order your stationery needs: wedding invitations, reception invitations, RSVPs, at home cards and note paper for your thank yous. (Most stationers will supply the invitations in advance, while the inside engravings are being made, so you can begin addressing your lists of relatives and friends. Hopefully you have already acknowledged answers to your engagement announcements.)

• Plan your honeymoon trip and buy a trousseau that will not only travel well but last well into your first year of marriage.

• Check to see that both mothers have ordered their dresses.

• See your doctors and dentists so problems and expenses will not arise while you are establishing your new home.

• Make sure the bridegroom has begun making plans for the rehearsal dinner. Have him check on the ushers' suits and remind him that he owes them gifts, as remembrances, just as you do the bridesmaids and matron of honor.

One month before the wedding:

• The luncheon or brunch for bridesmaids is usually given during this week.

• Start displaying your wedding gifts and be sure to record them all in a bride's book so you can write thank you notes later.

• Mail you announcements and glossy photographs to the newspapers and check later to confirm that they were received and no further information is required.

• Write thank you notes for your shower gifts.

• Invite relatives, friends, your minister or rabbi to the rehearsal dinner.

• Check acceptances for the wedding reception and have a second consultation with the caterer, the florist and musicians. Make arrangements for traffic and parking at the ceremony and reception.

• Plan accommodations for out-of-town guests.

• Order your wedding cake, plus wrapped portions for guests to take home to dream on.

• Recheck your wardrobe and your household goods.

• Enjoy the bridesmaid's luncheon you give.

• Plan the details of the rehearsal and brief all of the attendants.

48 hours to go:

• Give a confidante your honeymoon itinerary (in case of emergency).

• Pack your travel bags with all essentials including the going-away outfit you will don during the reception.

• Attend the rehearsal and dinner.

• Get your hair and nails done the morning of the wedding.

• Calm down you parents—and relax.

• Don't forget the rings — and look forward to a happy honeymoon!

A happy blending of Victorian elegance and contemporary fashion creates the never-to-be forgotten mood for this all-American wedding celebration. Her gown by Alfred Angelo is an extravagant froth of re-embroidered lace providing a marked contrast with the handsome simplicity of her groom's pure white formal.

Your wedding can live forever in photographs

The flowers will wilt, the cake will be eaten, but your wedding can live on forever in professional photographs of this important day — if you plan in advance.

A photographer who specializes in weddings is your surest bet. Although you may already have a contact with a portrait photographer, he may not necessarily be prepared to handle groups of people discreetly. A specialist is familiar with wedding procedure and he will anticipate the bridal couple's next move. He will be in the proper place at the proper time.

In small or large towns, professional photographers suggest brides-to-be reserve their services at least six to eight weeks before the ceremony. If the wedding is being planned for one of the more popular months — June, July, August or December — then it is wise to book the photographer at the time you make arrangements for the church and reception hall.

Note: different churches have different rules regarding taking pictures, some churches even forbid it. Make sure to discuss this with your clergyman at your first meeting.

When you make arrangements with the photographer of your choice, discuss with him the type of photographic coverage you'd like for this special day.

Choose carefree route to bridal gown of your dreams

When Horace Greeley said, "Go West young man, go West," he didn't tell him to make sure he took a wife along.

For those who didn't have the foresight to arrive with someone to cook, clean, launder, raise a garden, chickens and children (probably in that order), the solution was very often "the mail-order bride" sent sight unseen from the old country.

Today a "mail-order bride" is likely to be something else, according to Bernie Schwartz, bridal buyer.

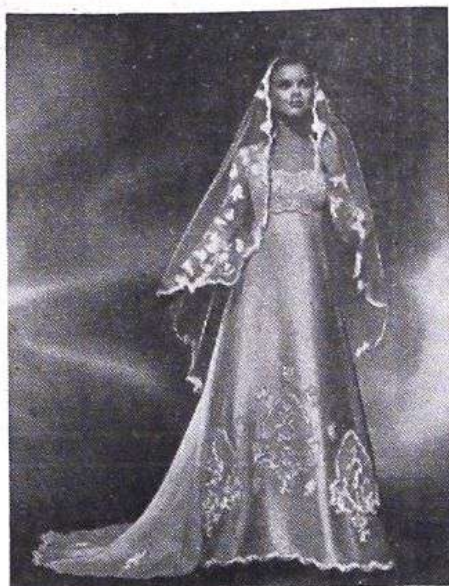

"The fastest developing part of our business," Schwartz points out, "is in catalog bridal gowns. Only four years ago we had just six pages and this year we will have 16 pages of bridal merchandise in the Spring—Summer catalog."

Traditionally, a young woman thinks of her bridal gown as one of the most important purchases she ever made. Also, traditionally she does a great deal of research at bridal fairs and through bridal publications before she settles on the gown that fulfills the dreams she has been nurturing for many, many years.

How then, was it possible last year for 11,500 brides to be married in the same style gown from the catalog? Or for countless others not only to order their own gown, but also order their attendants' gowns, their mother's gown and even their flower girl's gown from the same pages?

The economy is one reason, Schwartz thinks. For as little as $80.00, a young woman can have a gown that will flatter her without flattening her bank account.

And that's another thing. While many parents still pay for their daughter's wedding, statistics show that more and more young couples pay their own expenses. When this is the case, they often prefer to go easy on the wedding and invest more heavily in home furnishings.

Beautifully feminine

A gown of silk finish satin (left) will have her glowing as she walks down the aisle. With a lifted waist of Alençon lace, a Queen Anne neckline and tapered lace sleeves, this dress from Priscilla is beautifully feminine. The gentle gracefulness of a whispering soft chiffon dress (right) features delicate French lace. The lifted bodice is fashioned in lace, while the newly sculptured high neckline dips low in back. Lace cuffs the billowing sleeves and circles the hemline of the flowing skirt (also by Priscilla).

In a survey conducted last year to try to pinpoint reasons for the growth of the modern day "mail-order bride," reasons varied from attempts to beat inflation to the 72-hour delivery policy.

"I'm not being married until June," one young woman who ordered her gown in September said, "but I wanted the dress here in the house. I liked the dress and I didn't see what good a lot of shopping would do."

Another young woman said she was "intimidated" by sales women in bridal salons. Many, of course, said that shopping was inconvenient because they were away at school or lived far from the nearest bridal shop.

Jackie McCord, Fashion Editor of Modern Bride magazine, has her own theory for the catalog bridal phenomenon.

"We're in an age of burgeoning catalog buying," she pointed out. "Brides-to-be with budding careers—or thriving ones—lack the time for leisurely shopping in person, just as is the case with career women generally. The catalogs are a growth industry."

The question of fit was also tackled by the survey. About 25 percent had the gowns shortened. Sleeves were shortened by another small percentage. Very few had to have sizable alterations. Most claimed the gowns fit perfectly.

As pleased as he is with the growth of the catalog bridal section, Schwartz is proudest of the letters (and photographs) he gets from happy brides or proud parents. One reached him recently with photos enclosed.

"As an army family living in Europe," the mother of the bride wrote, "we have come to rely heavily on mail order purchases."

"I want to commend you for offering a very inexpensive gown and veil, which she wore with all the aplomb of a royal princess." The photographs confirmed the proud mother's appraisal.
